Germans Declare That Hitler's Invasion Armies Have Annihilated Entire Soviet Division of About 15,000 Troops, While Kremlin Reports Cite Numerous Instances of Fierce Resistance by the Defending Forces

MOSCOW HAS BOMBLESS 45-MINUTE AIR RAID

BULLETIN

Berlin, July 21—(AP)—A "big, destructive battle is in progress east of the Stalin line," a German military spokesman reported tonight. He compared the situation, at the end of the first month of war on the eastern front, to the situation on the western front between the Meuse river and the English channel after the turning of the Maginot line in June, 1940. Even as the Germans gave the harried French and British forces no breathing spell then, he said, so the Germans now are not giving the Russians time to reorganize after smashing the Stalin line.

By the Associated Press

The Germans declared today that Adolf Hitler's invasion armies had annihilated an entire Soviet division—about 15,000 troops—in fighting around Mogilev, on the Dneiper river front guarding Moscow while Russians also reported heavy carnage inflicted on the Nazis in the 30-day-old struggle.

Mogilev lies 80 miles southwest of Smolensk, where the Germans have driven a salient to within 230 miles of the Soviet capital.

DNB, the official German news agency, said numerous Soviet divisions were encircled in the region north of Vitebsk, on the central front, and that Russian troops had suffered heavy casualties in vain attempts to break out of the Nazi ring.

Soviet dispatches from the front gave a different picture, citing numerous instances of fierce Russian defense and reporting that in one sector, a Red tank unit smashed through a screen of German armored forces to scatter a large concentration of Nazi infantry.

Moscow had a 45-minute air raid alarm starting at 10 a. m., but no bombs fell.

A Reuters (British News Agency) dispatch said Moscow had a 45-minute air raid alarm beginning at 10 a. m. No incidents were reported.

Hitler's field headquarters asserted that German forces still were plunging ahead, with numerous Red Army units encircled or destroyed.

In the southern theatre, the Nazi High Command said "German, Rumanian and Hungarian troops are pushing the defeated enemy" in a drive into the Soviet Ukraine.

"Throughout last night, stubborn fighting continued in the Polotsk-Nevel, Smolensk and Novgorad Volynsky directions," a Red Army communique said this morning.

"On all other parts of the front, nothing of significance occurred."

The Russians declared officially that a Soviet infantry division surrounded and wiped out a "large enemy motorized formation," destroyed 100 German trucks and captured 189 others, five tanks, four armored cars, two planes and quantities of guns.

In another action, the Russians were reported to have wrecked 300 trucks, slaughtered two battalions of Nazi infantry, and taken prisoners and booty.

Behind the German lines, marauding Soviet guerilla bands were said to have cut communications, ambushed Nazi troop columns and raided supply depots.

"Guerilla detachments are inflicting heavy losses on the enemy", a Red Army bulletin said.

In the war in the air, Premier Mussolini's High Command reported that RAF bombers again raided the Italian west coast port of Naples early today, killing 15 persons and injuring 25.

Other RAF warplanes, swarming across the English channel in broad daylight, pounded the industrial city of Lille, in Nazi-occupied France, after smashing overnight

Four Sentenced for Clearfield Robbery

Clearfield, July 21—(AP)—Four men, including a well known Curwensville merchant, today were sentenced to prison terms ranging from 21 months to four years in connection with the burglary of $9,000 furs from the Clearfield Taxidermy Company last March 31.

Reuben Robinson, the merchant, received the heaviest sentence, four to eight years and a $2,000 fine. He had been convicted of aiding in the burglary by plotting the theft and had been denied a new trial. Free under $50,000 bail pending sentencing, Robinson was committed to county jail to await transfer to Western Penitentiary.

Robinson's counsel immediately filed notice of intention to appeal to the state supreme court.

RIAL OBSEQUIES WILL BE HELD AT GREENSBURG

Members of Governor's Office See Little Likelihood Of State's Executive Appointing Immediate Successor to Head Liquor Control Board

SENATORS TO ATTEND

Harrisburg, July 21.—(AP)—Members of Governor James' office said today there was little likelihood of the state's chief executive appointing an immediate successor to William Smith Rial, 65, chairman of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, who died Saturday.

Frederick T. Gelder will serve as temporary chairman of the board. W. Worrell Wagner is the other member.

The governor's office also said he undoubtedly would go to Greensburg tomorrow to attend funeral services for Rial who died of a heart ailment in his home there. The services will be held at 2 p. m. (EST) in the First Methodist church of Greensburg.

Rial was stricken late Friday night shortly after arriving home from Harrisburg. He was a close personal friend of the governor's who named him to the liquor board post.

The governor was named an honorary pall bearer along with Attorney General Claude T. Reno, under whom Rial once served as deputy; former State Supreme Court Justice John W. Kephart; Judges C. E. Whitten, Richard D. Laird, D. J. Snyder and J. Hilary Keenan of Westmoreland county courts; James F. Torrance, state Republican chairman; Major General Edward Martin, commander of the 28th Division; Major J. C. Mauk, of the State Police, Gelder and Wagner.

Charles H. Ealy, president protempore of the state senate, named senators from counties adjoining Westmoreland and John H. Dent (D.-Westmoreland) to represent the Senate at the rites.

Rial formerly served as deputy attorney general. He was a practicing attorney since 1901 and held several county offices, including that of county solicitor. He also served two years in the state Sen-

"V" CAMPAIGN CALLED SUCCESS

London, July 21—(AP)—A British Broadcasting Company executive asserted today that Britain's V-for-victory campaign to raise an underground army against Germany was the "first pitched propaganda battle of the war" and the British apparently "are winning it."

The executive, European News Editor N. F. Newsome, said the V drive was one of a series of experiments to test the readiness of peoples of occupied countries to accept leadership from London.

"There will be other things to worry the Germans," he added.

Newsome said there would be other leadership experiments "until one day we feel able to give the word to the underground army in Europe to go over the top for us in the final offensive."

Britons claim a "V" army of millions are mobilized throughout German-conquered nations in a

NAZI PLOT IN BOLIVIA IS NIPPED

Number of Prominent Residents, Including Former Finance Minister Estenssoro, Are Under Arrest In Connection With Alleged Conspiracy Which Police Declare Had Been Smashed by Timely Action of President Penaranda

GERMAN MINISTER IS ORDERED TO GO HOME

La Paz, Bolivia, July 21.—(AP)—A number of prominent Bolivians, including former Finance Minister Victor Paz Estenssoro, were under arrest today in connection with an alleged Nazi plot which police said had been smashed by the timely action of President Enrique Penaranda, advocate of close cooperation with the United States.

Ernst Wendler, German minister, was ordered expelled from the country. President Penaranda said he had documentary proof that the minister had attempted to meddle in Bolivia's domestic affairs.

Essenssoro, a member of the chamber of deputies, and cabinet member until June 20 when he resigned in a disagreement over the exchange rate of the peso and dollar, was described by police as head of "The Nationalist Revolutionary Movement." That organization was dissolved automatically with proclamation of a state of siege.

The country still was under a state of siege, but the capital and provinces were reported quiet. Defense Minister Gen. Miguel Candia arrived at Cochabamba, a farm center where a large German settlement is situated, to lead further investigations there

Four newspapers, two of which were mentioned in Washington's axis blacklist, were suspended by the government, and three newspapermen were among those arrested.

Commenting on the action against Wendler, the president declared in an interview that the government "could not adopt such serious measures without being fully convinced that its attitude was based on justice."

Another government source charged Wendler "provided the

TWO ARE VICTIMS OF HIT-SKIP OPERATOR

New Castle, July 21—(AP)—A man who purportedly admitted he was the operator of a truck which killed two men and critically injured a third in a hit-run accident was held today on an involuntary manslaughter charge.

Detective Chief Ralph Criswell said John Saesan, 30, of New Castle, admitted he was driving his truck at the time of the accident Saturday.

The dead, Horace McHenry, 44, and Alex Smith, 47, both of New Castle, were found in a street together with Harry Atkins, 44, also of New Castle, who was taken to a hospital in serious condition.

TWO GIRLS ARE FOUND SLAIN IN MASSACHUSETTS

YOUTH IS IN CUSTODY

Salem, Mass., July 21—(AP)—The rape-slayings of two teen-age girls, a playsuit-clad high schooler who vanished on a grocery-buying stroll and a comely bookkeeper who had a country club dance date, held attention today in twin investigations.

An anonymously telephoned tip was gruesomely fruitful for the second time in two days when police found the ravished body of Frances M. Cochran, 19, of Lynn, Mass., yesterday in a roadside thicket here.

The brown-haired employe of a leather factory, missing since Thursday night, had been strangled to death, Medical Examiner Ignatius Zielienski said.

Soon afterward, District Attorney Robert F. Bradford announced at neighboring Reading that a 15-year-old boy was held there in the killing of Constance Shipp, also 15, whose mutilated body police discovered Saturday—also after a telephone hint—in a closed Reading parsonage near her home. The youth had been taken into custody soon after the bludgeoned, slashed body was found.

Mrs. Harold Cochran, mother of Frances, broadcast from a Salem radio station yesterday an appeal to her daughter to come home. Half an hour later the station received the telephone tip and relayed it to police.

A high school class ring and a topaz ring, still on the fingers, helped Lynn Police Sgt. J. Henry Wall identify Miss Cochran's severely battered body. The forehead was gashed. A broken tree branch had been thrust into her mouth, apparently as a gag.

Trampled grass and underbrush evidenced a struggle. One shoe was missing; the other was found about 30 paces away.

An attempt to trace the telephone tipster was begun.

ALUMINUMWARE DRIVE LAUNCHED

Washington, July 21—(AP)—The government started a nationwide door-knocking campaign today to collect 20,000,000 pounds of aluminumware from the kitchen cupboards of America.

In urban center and cross-roads village more than a million volunteer workers set out to get pots and pans and any other articles such as old automobile parts and fittings, which may be smelted down and turned to defense uses.

Plans for prompt employment of all metal gathered up were so far advanced, officials said, that in a few months the little stew kettle in which Mrs. Jones boiled her husband's morning bacon would likely be part of an American-made plane dropping British bombs over Germany—or perhaps part of a tank in this country's own mechanized forces.

The aluminum campaign was organized jointly by the Office of

CHURCHILL MINISTRY IS REVISED

Alfred Duff Cooper is Dispatched to Far East as Special War Coordinator For the Cabinet, With Brendan Bracken Taking His Place as Minister of Information, in Third Shift Announced Since May 2

NUMBER OF OTHER IMPORTANT CHANGES

London July 21—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill revised his government today for a third time since May 2 dispatching Alfred Duff Cooper to the Far East as a special war coordinator for the cabinet and naming Brendan Bracken minister of information in his stead.

Bracken, who has been Churchill's parliamentary private secretary, is the fourth man since the start of the war to hold the information portfolio—a post often referred to as "the graveyard of ministerial reputations" because its occupants have been the targets of such sharp criticism.

The exact nature of Cooper's new assignment was not disclosed but it was understood his duties would be similar to those of Capt. Oliver Lyttleton government coordinator in the Middle East.

Cooper—51-year-old conservative who resigned as Prime Minister Chamberlain's first lord of the admiralty because he disapproved of his appeasement policy—was believed headed for Singapore, potential hot-spot if Japan should attempt an oft-predicted southward thrust.

Unlike Lyttleton, who is a special minister of state, Duff Cooper will not be a member of the inner war cabinet. He remains a member of the government however by virtue of his appointment as Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster in place of Lord Hankey.

"It is so grave, in my opinion, and in the opinion of all who are conversant with the facts, that the army should be maintained in effective strength and without diminution of its effective numbers in a complete state of readiness. Small as it is in comparison with other armies, it should not suffer any form of disorganization or disintegration."

MYSTERY VEILS GANG DEATH IN PHILADELPHIA

Cape May, N. J., July 21—(AP)—Mystery veiled the slaying of John Goodman, 40, Philadelphia gangster, today after his bound and battered body, wrapped in canvas, was found floating in Cape May harbor.

Jesse Souder, Cape May county prosecutor's aide, said questioning of the slain man's widow, Marie, into the early hours today failed to throw any light on the murder, but that a possible clue appeared in a bridge tender's report that an automobile was parked Friday night near where the body was found yesterday.

Mrs. Goodman told police that she last saw her husband when he left home Friday. She reported him missing the next morning.

Mrs. Goodman was questioned for about four hours before being taken to the morgue to identify the body. She collapsed and was taken to the county jail. Souder said, however, she was not being held but was given a night's lodging there as all hotels were filled.

Two men, whose identities police did not disclose, accompanied Mrs. Goodman from Philadelphia but were allowed to return there after questioning.

County Physician Warren Robbins said Goodman had been dead about three or four days.

Goodman's head had been battered and his hands and feet tied with sash cord. A concrete block was attached to the canvas.

Goodman was convicted of slaying Abraham Melincoff, who was shot and killed in 1908 in Philadelphia and served 10 years of a 15-year sentence.

Ambulance Completes Long "Mercy Mission"

Glassport, July 21—(AP)—A 2,100-mile "mercy mission" was completed last night with the return home in the Glassport fire department ambulance of a Glassport woman seriously injured in an automobile accident in Kansas while en route to a vacation in California.

The ambulance, manned by volunteer firemen and a nurse made the 2,100-trip to bring home Mrs. Jack Lees, wife of an Allegheny county detective.

Also returned to Glassport in the ambulance was Mrs. Lees' sister-in-law, Mrs. Violet Kalina, 36, who was injured in the same accident near Wamego, Kan.

LARGE NUMBER AUTO MISHAPS ARE REPORTED

Several Persons Are Injured and Number of Arrests Are Made by Officers of Local Substation As Result of Series of Accidents in Area

ONE VICTIM IS SERIOUS

Several persons were injured and a number of arrests made over the weekend by officers of the local substation of the Pennsylvania Motor Police as the result of a series of accidents in this section, it was reported today.

Most seriously injured was August Kopanske, 68, of Corydon, who is in the Bradford hospital with several fractured ribs, possible internal injuries and a possible fracture of the leg, received in an accident near his home about 8:30 o'clock Saturday night. His condition was said to be fair this morning.

According to Private S. R. Yurecic, who investigated, this accident occurred when Kopanske, driving a Dodge truck north on route 159, started to make a turn into his driveway when the rear of his truck was hit by a car operated by Kenneth R. Lamb, 25, of Duke Center, which had been following him. Both machines were badly damaged, Lamb was unhurt.

Three persons received minor injuries in an accident which occurred on U. S. route 6, about one-half mile west of Sheffield near the Crary Farms, when a Chevrolet coupe driven by Jeanetta Kelley, of 20 West Main street, Sheffield, left the road and overturned in avoiding another machine.

The driver, who was enroute to Warren, received bruises about the arms, legs and body and was treated by a Sheffield physician. Mrs. Norman Williams, of 24 West Main street, Sheffield, a passenger, received a cut on one knee and Johanna Williams, 4 years old, her daughter, received a cut on the knee and a bruised hip.

Corp. D. A. Gehr, of the motor police, said a car ahead of the Kelley machine pulled to the right side of the highway and as the Kelley car was about to pass, the other machine turned suddenly to the left. In a successful effort to avoid a collision, the Sheffield woman turned sharply to the right, going off the highway and overturning.

COMEDIAN LEW FIELDS IS DEAD

Beverly Hills, Calif., July 21—(AP)—Lew Fields, who with his boyhood chum, Joe Weber, travelled the nation's vaudeville circuits as a comedian for more than 60 years, died today of pneumonia.

Fields, who was 74, became ill Thursday, sank rapidly and was placed under an oxygen tent today in a futile attempt to save his life. His widow, Rose, his children and his comedian partner, Weber, were at the bedside.

Fields was born Lewis Maurice Fields. He and Weber began their famous comedy routine in New York in 1876 when they were little boys. Fields was only nine.

Their first appearances together were in juvenile Dutch sketches at small variety theatres. In 1885, they formed their own company.

In 1896, they became proprietors of the famous Weber and Fields Music hall in New York which, for years, was one of the gay spots of Broadway.

SENTIMENT FOR SEIZURE BILL IS INCREASING

Measure to Authorize President to Take Over for Defense Purposes Certain Factories Needed for Preparedness Believed Near Passage

BARKLEY CONFIDENT

Washington, July 21.—(AP)—Administration leaders seeking prompt Senate approval of a bill which would permit government seizure of property needed for national defense predicted its passage today or tomorrow despite Republican objections and criticisms of Chairman Reynolds (D-N.C.) of the Senate military committee.

The committee approved the bill last week by a vote announced as unanimous, but yesterday Reynolds disclosed he had declined to sign the committee report because of newspapers and radio stations.

And a Republican leader of the Senate said members of his party, wary of the legislation's provisions, would want to know whether it would permit the government to take a man's shotgun, sack of flour or automobile.

Senators Barkley (D-Ky.), the majority leader, and Connally (D-Tex) asserted, however, that the bill would pass and Senator Bailey (D-N.C.) said this:

"Everyone must be willing to give up his rights now in the interest of national defense. By that I mean everyone. We can't be seizing individuals' property and permit strikes in defense industries to continue. We can take our rights back after the emergency is over."

The bill would authorize the president to take over for defense purposes up to June 30, 1943, any "military or naval equipment supplies or munition, or components thereof, or machinery, tools, or materials necessary for the manufacture of such equipment, supplies or munitions."

JIMMY STEWART'S DAD LAUNCHES "V" DRIVE

Indiana, Pa., July 21—(AP)—England's "V for Victory Day" proclaimed yesterday in the German-occupied countries of Europe will have its counterpart here daily until the war ends.

It's the idea of Alexander Stewart, father of James Stewart, movie actor now a U. S. soldier. Stewart has erected a 10-foot, aluminum painted "V" atop the Indiana county courthouse, 300 feet above the street. Floodlights illuminate the sign each night from 8 p. m. until midnight. Coincidentally, the sign was first lighted Saturday night about the time when Prime Minister Winston Churchill was proclaiming "V" day in a London broadcast.

HEAVIEST RAIDS IN HISTORY ARE PLANNED BY RAF

London, July 21—(AP)—The RAF will launch the heaviest air raids in history against Germany in the next three months, authoritative sources here said today as a stream of British bombers kept up the non-stop air offensive already under way.

British raiders which swept across the channel in daylight today with a strong fighter escort were reported to have smashed at industrial Lille in northern France after night squadrons had bombed the Rhineland and Rotterdam.

As the nights lengthen, attacks on a scale "which will make Coventry look like a pinprick" will be aimed at Germany industry from

CONSIDERS SITUATION CRITICAL

Declaring That America is In "Infinitely Greater" Danger Than a Year Ago, Chief Executive Asks Congress to Lift Limitation Placed On Enlistments of Selectees, Guardsmen and Reservists

STRONG OPPOSITION EXPECTED FOR MOVE

Washington, July 21—(AP)—Declaring that America was in "infinitely greater" danger than a year ago, President Roosevelt asked congress today to authorize extension of the one-year period of active service in the army of selectees, National Guardsmen and Reservists.

Unless the extension is granted, Mr. Roosevelt said, the nation will be taking a grave national risk and disintegrating of the army will be under way within two months.

Responsibility for maintaining the efficiency of that army, the chief executive said in a message to congress, rests solely with the legislators.

Mr. Roosevelt dramatized his request by trying an innovation. He transcribed the message on records so that his words might be broadcast to the nation and the world.

The president emphasized that conditions had changed since a 12-month limitation was placed a year ago on the service of selectees, Guardsmen and Reservists.

"Today it is imperative, he said, "that I should officially report to the congress what the congress undoubtedly knows: That the international situation is not less grave but is far more grave than it was a year ago.

The objective, he declared is the all important issue.

The chief executive said he was confident men in the ranks realized better than the public the "disastrous effect" which would result from permitting the present army to melt away and set back the training and expansion program at least six months.

Noting that last year's selective service legislation definitely provided that the one year training program could be extended by congressional action if a national danger later existed, the president added:

"I do not believe that the danger

BRADFORD MAN DIES IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

Olean, N. Y., July 21—(AP)—An automobile hurtled out of control from a highway and crashed through a cable guard fence last night, killing a Bradford, Pa., man and injuring two others, both seriously.

The dead man was John R. Gifford, 24.

The injured, taken to an Olean hospital, were John Williams, 20, and Paul Cannon, 29, both of Bradford. Hospital authorities said Williams may have suffered a fractured neck.

The accident occurred at Vandalia, N. Y., 12 miles north of Bradford.

Police said the driver of the car apparently lost control when the car skidded in gravel on a highway shoulder while rounding a curve.

MRS. PINCHOT NAMED

Washington, July 21—(AP)—Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the former governor of Pennsylvania, and William C. Bullitt, former U. S. ambassador to France, have been named by President Roosevelt to the volunteer participation committee with the office of civilian defense.

PROCLAMATION!

To The Citizens of Warren:

Warren County's campaign to raise $3800.00 as its share of the national goal of the United Service Organizations is now on. All loyal and patriotic citizens will want to participate in this worthy cause.

The United Service Organizations, a combination of six outstanding national service groups, covering every race, color and creed, has a program so worthy and so well-known as to require no further comment from me.

Warren County's quota to provide decent recreation and spiritual guidance for the boys in Camps must be met. It is hard to imagine how we could make a better investment for the future of these boys who have given up job and home to provide defense and security for the rest of us. There will be no house to house canvass unless the quota cannot be reached through spontaneous contributions. Make and mail your check to H. B. Meacham, Treasurer of U. S. O.—and do it now.

Sincerely,

R. W. STEBER, Burgess.

SUPREME COURT JUSTICE TO BE HONORED HERE

Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson, native son of Warren county, will be honored at a testimonial dinner by present and former members of the Warren County Bar Association next Monday evening at the Conewango Club here, it was announced today.

Born in Spring Creek township, Mr. Jackson gained prominence while a resident of Jamestown, N. Y., where he was a practicing attorney for many years.

He holds the distinction of being the only person to gain a place on the highest court of the United States.

Justice Jackson

Justice Jackson rose to a high position in New York state legal affairs before being called to Washington by President Roosevelt to become United States solicitor general. Subsequently he was named attorney general and finally was elevated to the United States Supreme Court.

He has a large number of friends in Warren and vicinity who have watched with pleasure his steady rise in governmental affairs.

Because of the limited facilities available, the dinner next Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock will be confined to present and former members of the local bar association and a small number of specially invited guests, it was stated today.

Aluminum Show Planned at Library Theatre Here on Saturday Morning

With plans completed for the national defense aluminum collection campaign in Warren county this week, announcement was made today that "youngsters" from 6 to 60 are invited to attend a free moving picture show at the Library theatre here next Saturday morning at ten o'clock.

The only cost of admission will be some aluminum utensil, which can be used by the defense council.

Manager George C. Sarvis announced over the week-end that arrangements have been made to bring a good program of movies here for the event and everyone is invited to attend and thus help this worthy cause.

The Warren county aluminum collection campaign is to be staged from July 24 to 27, with the intensive portion of the drive on Friday and Saturday.

Work was started this morning on the erection of a bin at the north end of the Hickory street bridge between the soldiers' and sailors' monument and the curb. All residents of the borough are asked to toss their discarded aluminum ware into this bin.

Elsewhere in this issue is a list of places in the county where aluminum may be deposited.

The Warren county aluminum collection committee announced today that this county, to contribute its full share toward the national goal of 20,000,000 pounds of scrap aluminum, should donate at least six or seven thousand pounds in the campaign.

To give local housewives and business places an added incentive to donate every possible aluminum item that they can spare without making replacements, it was revealed that the mayor of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., has issued a challenge to all cities and communities that Mt. Vernon will achieve the highest per family or per capita collection in the United States.

The local committee today urged that every citizen get behind the campaign to make it a success.

Aluminumware Drive Launched

Civilian Defense and the Office of Production Management. William S. Knudsen, OPM chief, set the 20,000,000-pound goal, saying that amount would be needed to supplement normal aluminum supplies to meet defense requirements the rest of this year.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Joan Leslie is an unusual 16-year-old. She doesn't want to be 18, because she's having "so much fun" being her age she wouldn't want to miss it.

Of course she's unusual, too, in that she's just played leading lady to Gary Cooper (more than twice her age) in "Sergeant York" and has done a slightly terrific job of it, to quote the more conservative of her studio admirers. But all that is professional stuff, not too pertinent to a red-headed youngster with braces on her lower teeth and a cute giggle and a turned-up nose and faint freckles.

The real Sergeant York, when talking about the movie to be made of his life, suggested that he didn't want "Gracie," now his wife, played by one of these cigaret-smoking, liquor-drinking movie actresses. No better answer to his requirement, in that respect, could have been found than Joan, whose big off-screen moments in recent weeks were the two Loyola proms she attended with a brother of a girl friend—"the only dates I've had in Hollywood," she says.

HOW did Mama and Papa Brodell rear a sweet child like this Joan Leslie? They did it on the road, in night clubs, in vaudeville.

John Brodell was an accountant in Detroit when depression struck and the family hit on the stage as the way out. Joan was three, Betty and Mary slightly older. They junketed in their old car, from engagement to engagement, and the girls went to schools in towns when they settled down long enough, otherwise Mama was teacher.

Joan did imitations and sang and danced. Joan attracted a movie talent scout who sent her to M-G-M on contract. She had bits in "Susan and God" and other movies, but was released. She went back to the act until the whole family returned. Joan and her imitations played all the casting offices, entertaining the casters but bringing few jobs until Warner's signed her.

Gee, was she thrilled! And gee, it was wonderful to play in pictures with Eddie Albert. She was nervous about her first kissing scene, but Eddie told her it was just a job and why not get it over with? Kissing Gary Cooper—and Gary so famous and important—almost overwhelmed her. Gee!

EARLY in her career out here a local booster society picked her as Southern California's Sun Goddess—1941 equivalent of the Oomph Girl business that boosted Ann Sheridan. The Sun Goddess, her duties officially ended, admits that she has to be extremely careful of sunburn.

She's just gone into the 10th grade at studio school, where she shines in geography ("I learned that by traveling.") and is investigating the social sciences. Mary is also under contract, but Betty prefers radio singing. The Brodells live in a little house near the studio, and the father again is an accountant, while the mother manages household and careers.

Joan's big aversion, at the moment, is red nail-polish, and her small worry is those dental braces. "They were supposed to be removable but I think the dentist crossed us up—they won't come off."

Even at 16, Joan is a calorie-counter. "I'm watching them now so the studio won't make me watch them later."

Four Warren County Men Arrested In Liquor Raids Staged on Sunday

Raids conducted at three places in the county Sunday resulted in the arrest of four men who will face charges of liquor law violations before justices of the peace here and in Sheffield sometime this afternoon.

The arrests were made by agents of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, agents of the Federal Alcohol Tax Unit and Police Chief Sanford Secor, of Sheffield. The men were in the county jail pending their arraignment.

Those being held are Frank Knaus, of Sheffield; John Smith, of Tiona; Sheldon Paul, of Weldbank, and LeGrand Russell, of Pine Grove township.

First arrested was Frank Knaus, who was taken into custody at his residence in Barnes street, Sheffield. He is charged with sale of liquor and beer without a license.

The residence of Smith was raided following the arrest of Knaus. At his place were found a 75-gallon still, 24 pint bottles of moonshine, six quart bottles of moonshine, five mash barrels, one 30-gallon keg filled with moonshine and one 30-gallon keg containing about two gallons of moonshine, the officials said. He is charged with illegal manufacture, possession, sale and transportation of illicit liquor.

While making the raid, officers saw a car drive away from the Smith residence. They stopped and searched the machine and found it contained alleged moonshine liquor. The driver, Paul, was arrested and charged with illegal possession and transportation of liquor.

The third raid occurred at Stumble Inn, on the Warren-Jamestown road between Russell and Akeley. LeGrand Russell, who was on the premises at the time, was arrested on charges of illegal sale of liquor.

At all of the places, the liquor found was destroyed, as well as all equipment used in its sale. At the Smith residence in Tiona, officials confiscated automobiles owned by Smith and Paul.

The raids were conducted under the supervision of C. W. Newell, of the Erie office of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, following several months of investigation, it was stated today. Agents said wheels for the investigation were set in motion by District Attorney J. H. Goldstein as a result of numerous complaints of illicit liquor traffic in the county. The investigations have been conducted under the direction of District Attorney Goldstein, it was stated.

All of the places sold liquor to agents of the state and federal agencies, it was stated today by an agent of the board.

The officer said he is investigating to learn the name of the driver of the machine who caused the accident and that he will be charged with improper turning on the highway.

Jack Brunecz, 19 years old, of R. D. 1, Sugar Grove, was treated at the Warren General Hospital Saturday afternoon for bruises received when he was struck on the left leg by a car as he was walking along U. S. route 6, four miles west of Pittsfield, leading a horse, according to Private L. G. Forbes, of the motor police. The youth was discharged after treatment.

Private Fobes said the young man and his brother, Paul, were walking along the road, both leading horses, when a 1936 Chevrolet coach, driven by John Zanias, 43, of Massachusetts avenue, Buffalo, N. Y., came along in the same direction and struck Brunecz on the left leg. The officer, who was patroling in the vicinity at the time, brought the youth to the hospital and later returned him to his home after it was found that no bones were broken.

Two arrests resulted from an accident which occurred on the Pleasantville-Neilltown road in Venango county early Saturday morning when a 1935 Ford sedan owned by Merle Albaugh, of Tidioute, and operated by Merle Donald Anthony, 25, of R. D. 2, Tidioute, was completely wrecked when it skidded from the wet pavement, struck an embankment and rolled over three times. Anthony, who was alone in the car, was unhurt.

According to Private B. A. Reeder, Anthony was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Joseph Lodge at Tidioute on a charge of driving without a license, while Albaugh was arraigned on a charge of permitting the violation of the vehicle code. Both paid fines, the officer reported.

A 1933 Pontiac coach was damaged about the front end to the extent of about $65 in an accident which occurred in Conewango avenue extension about 6:35 p. m., Saturday when it struck an electric company pole, according to Private Joseph Ruffa. It was reported that William F. Brooker, 26, of 116 Parker street, who was driving the car, was going north when he suddenly decided to turn into a driveway. The machine went off the road, striking the pole and breaking it. Brooker was not hurt.

Miss Ann Wokulick, aged 24, of 1731 West 32nd street, Cleveland, O., was treated for mild shock at the Warren General Hospital about five o'clock Sunday afternoon, after the car in which she was riding left the highway and overturned. The driver, Alex Wokulick, who is her brother and an attendant at the Warren State Hospital, received lacerations on one hand. No report of the happening was made to the local Pennsylvania Motor Police.

Sally Douglas, 48, of 1400 Pennsylvania avenue, east, was admitted to the local hospital for treatment of a lacerated forehead and bruises received in an automobile accident which occurred about eleven o'clock Sunday night on the Kiantone road just over the New York state line. Gust Sandstrom, 75, of 104½ Main avenue, in the same accident, escaped injury, according to hospital reports.

Local Driver Second In Langhorne Race

Langhorne, Pa., July 21—(AP)—In a race marred by seven crackups, Roy Hall, 22-year-old Atlanta, Ga., professional driver, won the 200-mile stock car race at the Langhorne Speedway yesterday.

Hall finished about a mile ahead of R. W. Lummis of Warren, Pa., who started in 28th position in a field of 40. Hall's time was two hours, 55 minutes and 25.46 seconds. Harold Brokhoff, of Pottsville, Pa., finished fifth.

Injuries to drivers involved in the accidents were minor.

Rural Residents of County Have Opportunity to Give Aluminum for National Defense in Big Campaign

Rural residents of Warren county will join in the nation-wide collection of scrap aluminum during the period July 21 to 29. The national goal is 20,000,000 pounds.

Housewives are urged to donate all aluminum utensils which no longer are of use to them, but they are cautioned not to give more than they can get along without, in order to avoid a secondary shortage in other metals, and they also are cautioned not to give heavy or bulky items with minor aluminum parts. It is better to strip the aluminum from these articles and donate that.

Leo Johnson, Youngsville, chairman of the Warren county agricultural defense committee in charge of the aluminum collection explains that no individual will profit from the collection of the aluminum. The effort is in the interest of nation defense and the scrap aluminum will be used only for that purpose.

The committee has designated convenient points where rural residents may leave their donations of scrap aluminum on their regular marketing or shopping trips during the period of July 21-29. In the communities where collection center are grange halls, the date for collection will be Friday and Saturday, July 25 and 26 between 8 a. m. and 4 p. m., daylight saving time. Each family is urged to donate any scrap aluminum and leave it at one of the following places:

Grange Halls—Pleasant, Scandia, Lander, Chandlers Valley, Columbus (town hall), Grand Valley (Odd Fellows building), Corydon.

Fire Departments — Russell, Sugar Grove, Tidioute, Clarendon, Youngsville, Sheffield.

Others—Gilson's Feed Store, North Warren; Weaver's Feed Store, Bear Lake; feed store, Spring Creek; Johnson Bros. store, Garland; Akeley post office, Akeley; Morrison's Garage, Kinzua; Brooks store, Pittsfield; Wilson's store, Lottsville.

HEARTBREAK HONEYMOON

YESTERDAY: Henry Pell is completely at sea. He is just back from Chicago, where his dear friend Marie Mason followed him to persuade him to return at once to New York and get his bid in for a big radio job. Henry returned to find the radio job gone—worse, to find Luella Pell, his young wife, also gone. He just has told the news to Alma, who got the job he had hoped for.

Chapter 22

Bitter Praise

"NO! Not really?" Alma gasped—and Henry suddenly realized that it was the first time he had ever seen her show surprise.

"Here's my elevator," he said. "I've got to be going. So long!"

From Rockefeller Center Henry went over to the realty office. There he spent the next two hours going over the many notes he had made in Chicago, explaining this, and explaining that. He was glad, in a way, that he didn't have to face the situation regarding Luella just now, glad of an excuse for postponing it a little longer.

"Good work!" said his superior, Mr. Smithers.

"Thanks," said Henry.

Mr. Smithers said: "I don't mind telling you, Pell, that we were a bit worried about you."

"In what way?"

"We were beginning to feel that we'd made a mistake in bringing you up to New York," Mr. Smithers continued. "The way you seemed for a time to lose your sense of balance—that woman in radio, those songs, all that sort of nonsense." He rubbed his hands together and beamed. . . . "I'm glad we were wrong about you—glad to find that you are still capable of doing good work in the realty business."

"Yes, sir," rather listlessly.

"Now, trot along home, and get some rest," said Mr. Smithers. "We'll go into matters more thoroughly Monday morning." He patted Henry's shoulder. "And my best regards to that charming little wife of yours. . . . I've never forgotten that grand dinner she cooked for the Missus and me shortly after you got settled. Remember?"

"Yes, sir," said Henry. "I remember." Luella, all excited over entertaining his boss, but glad she had "practiced" on Tommy and Marie first. "She enjoyed having you and Mrs. Smithers as guests."

"We must get together more frequently," said Mr. Smithers, again beaming. "Socially, I mean. Mrs. Smithers often speaks of Mrs. Pell. 'Arnold,' she says to me, 'Young Mrs. Henry Pell is just the sort of wife a man needs to help him on toward success.' She's right, too, Pell—very right, indeed."

"Yes, sir," said Henry. "Thank you."

Why must everyone talk to him about Luella? First Rector. . . . Then Alma Latham. . . . And now Mr. Smithers.

"Give Mrs. Pell our best regards, my boy," Smithers was now saying. "We'll have a get-together real soon."

"Our regards to Mrs. Smithers," Henry said. "I'll see you bright and early Monday morning."

Henry made his escape, for he felt that that was just what it was. He had felt like a prisoner, being backed in a corner and tortured, Luella this and Luella that. . . . Oh, God—

His thoughts were interrupted by an office boy calling to him that he was wanted on the telephone.

"I said I'd try to catch you before you reached the elevator," he said.

"Thanks, Bill," Henry said.

He went back inside and picked up the receiver. It was Tommy McIntyre calling him.

"I hoped I'd be able to find you," he said. "How about lunch?"

Henry hesitated. He was in no mood for lunching with anyone. And he didn't feel like talking, especially to a man who had grown much too fond of his wife. And yet he dreaded being alone—dreaded going up to that lonely, empty apartment.

"Okay!" he said finally. "Where shall I meet you?"

"At Jack Dempsey's place," said Tommy. "On Broadway."

"Right! What time?"

"As soon as you can make it."

"I'll be right over. It's only a few blocks."

Jolt From Tommy

THE air was cool and bracing when Henry stepped out into the street a moment later. It was the sort of day that should make a man glad to be alive. But it didn't make him feel that way—not at all. He was horribly depressed. He hated the thought of spending the week-end in the apartment which Luella had taken so much pride in turning into a real home.

A real home? Had it really ever been that? And whose fault was it? His? . . . Luella's? Both to blame, probably. Thinking about it did no good, that was certain. He strode off toward Broadway, trying to keep his chin up and his shoulders back. It was something of a comfort to see Tommy McIntyre's familiar face, when he stepped up to the bar.

"Old-fashioned," said Henry. "And thanks."

"I've got a table over in a quiet corner," Tommy informed. "As soon as we've had our drinks here at the bar, we'll hide ourselves there, and talk. . . . I've got a lot to say."

The drinks warmed their blood—made Henry feel a little less low. Then they went to the table. Ordered lunch. Henry still didn't feel much like talking, and wondered somewhat vaguely what it was Tommy wanted to talk about. Then, all at once, Henry knew that he would have to tell someone what had happened or go crazy.

"I didn't get the radio job," he announced.

"Say, that's too bad!" Tommy exclaimed.

"Alma Latham got it."

"I was afraid of that. Women in business. Gosh, they make me ill."

"Me, too," said Henry. He waited a moment, and then said. "Luella's gone."

"Yes," said Tommy, "I know."

Henry dropped his fork, stared at the man opposite. "You know?" he said inanely. "You mean she—"

"I mean," said Tommy, "that I telephoned Luella to ask her to have lunch with me, and she was in tears."

"Yes, go on."

"She said she was leaving New York. I rushed up to see what was wrong, and found her with her trunk and suitcase all packed."

"Did she give any reason for her actions?" Henry wanted to know, thinking at the same time how odd it was that he, the husband, should be getting information about his own wife from another man. "I can't quite grasp it—not yet, anyway."

"Yes," said Tommy, "she told me exactly why she was leaving. She had heard that Marie was in Chicago while you were there."

"Oh!"

"That's explanation enough, isn't it—for her leaving, I mean?"

"Perhaps. . . . But who told her about Marie being in Chicago?"

"I did."

"Why, you—you—" Henry half rose from his chair, his eyes angry, his fists clenched.

"But not intentionally," said Tommy. "So keep your shirt on."

"Okay!" Henry sank back into his chair. "Go on. . . . I want the whole story."

"I called up Marie," Tommy said, "and her maid told me she was in Chicago. . . . I let it out in a talk with Luella, not even knowing that you, too, were in Chicago. Naturally, Luella put two and two together, and suspected the worst. After all, Henry, you have been seeing a lot of Marie."

"Of course, I have," said Henry. "And you've been seeing a lot of Luella, also. That doesn't mean I had to pack up and leave."

"Yes, I've been seeing a lot of Luella," said Tommy quietly. "I've fallen in love with her. You might as well get it straight from the shoulder."

Divorce

"GOOD Lord, man, this is carrying the modern stuff a bit too far!" Henry exclaimed. "You mean to sit there and tell me to my face that you love my wife?"

"I do."

"Well, I'll be—!"

"What's more, Henry, I'll marry her if she'll have me after the divorce."

"Who said anything about divorce?"

"Luella did."

"You mean she talked that over with you, too?"

Tommy nodded. "She'll go on to Florida to establish a ninety day residence, just as soon as she has stopped off in the old hometown for a few days to look after some business matters."

Henry went limp. He seemed to slump down low in his chair.

"She certainly did make a confidant of you, all right," he said.

"She did," Tommy admitted. "She had to have someone to talk to, and I happened to be handy." He watched Henry, feeling sorry for him one moment, and then almost despising him the next, for what he had done to Luella. "I went down to Pennsylvania Station with her, helped her get her ticket, and—"

"And encouraged her to leave me, I suppose," said Henry angrily.

"No, not that. Anyway, you certainly haven't encouraged her not to leave you."

"How do you know?"

"Keeping my eyes and ears open, that's all," said Tommy. "Luella isn't the type of girl to adapt herself to a new way of living over-night, and you never took the trouble or the time to help her adjust herself to things up here."

"Luella knew perfectly well what she had to face when she married me," said Henry.

"You raced ahead like something wild," Tommy continued, "and Luella got scared, trying to keep up with you when her heart wasn't really in it."

"There!" said Henry. "You've put your finger on the real trouble. Luella's heart should have been in the business of keeping up with me. It was her job, as my wife—her job to encourage me, and not feel sorry for herself."

"All right, but the truth of the matter is that Luella's gone, and I don't think she'll be coming back."

"Why?"

"I've told her she can have my cottage in Florida," said Tommy. "I've had little time to use it myself. It's completely furnished, and Luella can live very reasonably while waiting for her divorce."

"And she said she'd accept your offer?"

"She did. She'll probably be settled in the cottage within the next week or two."

Not all the pleasure of bridge is in playing it. Hands are interesting in themselves. The real bridge lover gets a thrill from seeing a colorful, once-in-a-lifetime freak actually dealt.

Here is a hand sent me by Sam Katz of Newark which hangs up some sort of record.

East did not guess the killing lead of a diamond, but opened his partner's suit. Katz, sitting North, ruffed and then cashed the king and ace of clubs. The king of spades was laid down. East did not cover, and the king held, dummy discarding a diamond.

When the queen of spades was led, East covered and dummy trumped. Another trump lead put North in again to cash the rest of the spades, on which dummy shed all the diamonds, so that South in the end ruffed out North's deuce of diamonds.

One often sees two or three losers discarded, preparatory to ruffing losers in the same suit held by the partner's hand. But have you ever before seen seven losers discarded from dummy, so that dummy can ruff just one loser in declarer's hand? I never have, and I think that this situation is just as rare as a hand of thirteen spades.

Today's Story

Be careful about wearing an opera hat in Salt Lake City. There's a law against it.

Forty years ago it cost 30 cents a mile to run an automobile. A modern car can be run for less than 3 cents a mile.

Improper Turning at Intersection And Failure to Give Signals Are Cause of Many Accidents in Area

Improper turning at intersections and failure to give proper signals on starting, stopping and turning has resulted in a great increase in automobile accidents in this section, it was stated today by Corp. D. A. Gehr, in charge of the local substation of the Pennsylvania Motor Police.

He stated that a drive is to be conducted throughout the district to correct this situation and warned motorists that they must obey the motor code regulations on the highways.

Regarding the turning at intersections, Section 1011, of the Pennsylvania Motor Code, was quoted as follows by Corp. Gehr:

"(a) The drives of a vehicle intending to turn to the right at an intersection shall approach such intersection in the lane for traffic nearest to the right hand side of the highway, and, in turning, shall keep as close as practicable to the right hand curb or edge of the highway.

"(b) The driver of a vehicle intending to turn to the left shall approach such intersection in the lane for traffic to the right and nearest to the center line of the highway, and, in turning, shall pass to the left of the center of the intersection, keeping as close as shall be practicable to the center of the intersection, except that, upon streets laned for traffic and upon one-way streets, a left turn shall be made from the left lane of traffic in the direction in which the vehicle is proceeding.

"(c) For the purpose of this section, the center of the intersection shall mean the meeting point of the medial lines of the highways intersecting one another, except when it is occupied by a monument, grass plot, or any permanent structure, other than a traffic control device."

It was pointed out that the penalty for violation of this regulation is a $10 fine and costs or not more than five days in jail.

Regarding starting, stopping and turning, Section 1012, of the motor code, was quoted by the officer as follows:

"(a) The driver of any vehicle upon a highway, before starting, stopping or turning from a direct line, shall first see that such movement can be made in safety, and, if any pedestrian may be affected by such movement, shall give a clearly audible signal by sounding the horn, and whenever the operation of any vehicle approaching or following may be affected by such movement, shall give a signal as required in this section, plainly visible to the driver of such other vehicle, of the intention to make such movement.

"(b) and (c) The signal herein required shall be given by means of the hand or arm in the manner herein specified. Whenever the signal is given by means of the hand and arm, the driver shall indicate his intention to start, stop or turn, by extending the hand and arm horizontally from and beyond the left side of the vehicle, or, if he is driving a closed vehicle, by his hand and arm in such a way as to be visible through the window in the rear of the vehicle."

If these regulations are observed, the officer stated, there will be a great decrease in the number of accidents from these causes.

WARREN COUNTY FARM TOUR TO BE HELD THURS.

The annual Warren county farmers' auto tour will be held on Thursday of this week, leaving the court house here at 8:30 a. m., Eastern Standard Time, it was announced today by O. C. Tritt, county agent. This year's tour, he stated, will go to Jefferson county.

The tour will follow Route 6 to Sheffield and 948 from Sheffield to Chaffee, turning right on 68 to just beyond Marienville and then following route 899 and 36 into Brookville. Those going from the western part of the county could go by the way of Tionesta and Cooks Forest and meet the tour where route 36 and 899 intersect, it is stated. Anyone doing this should plan to be at this point at 9:30.

Stops for the tour include the George Deiner farm at Brookville, where 75 head of dairy cows, 60 acres of improved pasture and a modern milk plant will be inspected; Guy Schucker's farm on route 322, pure-bred Holstein and Guernsey cattle, capons and a good practical farm milk house; Victor Verbeck, Harry Cooper and Everett Swineford farms near Reynoldsville.

Many interesting things are to be seen at all of these stops, Mr. Tritt stated, and it is expected that there will be a large turnout for this annual tour.

DIRECT RELIEF LOAD IN COUNTY SHOWS DECLINE

Direct relief rolls in Warren county continued to show a downward trend during the week ending July 12, when a net decrease of 10 cases was shown, according to information received from the state department of public assistance.

Most significant in the decline was the fact that not a case was opened during the week.

The decrease brought the total number of cases in the county down to 90, representing 142 persons. Cost of relief in the county during the week was $276.54.

In the state there was a net decline of 2,662 cases during the week, bringing the total to a record low of 100,095 cases, representing 211,234 persons. Cost of relief in the state during the week was $505,327.19.

Following are the figures for some nearby counties:

Clarion: Cases, 261; decrease, 15; cost, $1,126.31.

Crawford: Cases, 318; decrease, 9; cost, $1,082.26.

Elk: Cases, 122; decrease, 4; cost, $498.98.

Erie: Cases, 654; decrease, 16; cost, $2,529.27.

Forest: Cases, 29; decrease, 4; cost, $95.27.

McKean: Cases, 236; decrease, 17; cost, $841.66.

Venango: Cases, 440; decrease, 5; cost, $1,684.76.

THE EFFECTIVE PHASE BEGINS

(Written for the Times-Mirror and NEA by Willis Thornton)

There have been three phases of the defense program since the President called for the building of effective defense in May, 1940.

From May until that autumn there was a great scurrying to pass appropriations, to let contracts, to draw plans; everything was on paper. It had to be so.

From last autumn through this spring and summer, there was a period of "tooling up"—of providing the specialized tools necessary before production could begin, of building factories from the ground up.

Now at last we enter a third phase—when production in effective volume is beginning to roll. Now we begin to get the stuff, and from now on the stream of that production must continue to rise in heightening crescendo until the the world comes again, as it will some day, to peace.

Watch the needle flicker across the face of the arms production gauge!

Now it reads "More than 1500 new-model rifles and sub-machine guns are coming off the production lines every day."

Now "The thousandth Hudson bomber is already on its way to England."

Now "Shells will begin to roll off the production line of the Army's $20,000,000 munitions plant at Milan, Tenn., on Aug. 10. Six months ago this plant was a hayfield."

Now "Every naval ship under construction is far ahead of schedule."

Now "Three tank plants are simultaneously getting into actual production on medium tanks, the type the Army has needed most urgently, since light tanks are already in quantity production, and are good enough to have been most helpful to the British in Libya."

Each of these is only a small flick of the needle, but together they show how the defense effort is entering the productive stage. It has been a weary strain to wait month after month, plugging ever harder at the job, with so little apparent result. Now the results begin to come.

With actual tangible guns, tanks, and planes in sight, it should be easier to redouble the effort that will keep them coming in an increasing stream. In that lies the best hope for the American future.

TUNING IN ON TERMITES

We don't think we've been unduly friendly toward termites, especially the Fifth Column kind.

But after all, there was this to be said for termites: they were the last stand of privacy in a goldfish-globe world. Termites worked silently and privately; nobody ever bothered a termite, for the simple reason that nobody ever knew they were there until it was too late. They were able to enjoy their frugal repast of door-sill salad unmolested.

Now a super-microphone has been invented which makes the miniscule munchings of the termites sound louder than a man eating celery in a railway station restaurant. The termite's loss will be man's gain, but it is disconcerting to think that no living creature is any longer safe from the keen ear of the microphone—that even the termites have been tuned in.

The sympathy of a host of friends in North Warren and Warren is extended the family of William Songer, young victim of Friday's fatal highway accident, the first of its kind in the county this year.

With mercury in thermometers down around the forties, weather such as that experienced this morning serves to remind that it won't be long until the frost will be on the pumpkins.

From the number of petitions on file at the court house it would seem that the primary campaign will be unusually quiet.

Motorists who have not attended to that very important task are reminded that but six days remain in which to have that car inspected.

That subway job on Hickory street is giving motorists the "jumps."

• EDSON'S WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON
Times-Mirror Washington Correspondent

Washington, July 21—When the Navy's big armed transport, West Point, steams back into New York harbor with some 350 American consular agents and their families, all of whom were "swapped" with Italy and Germany for their 460 consular agents and families stationed in the United States, it will mark the beginning of a new period of diplomatic listening-in on the European war. Vice-versa, it will mark the beginning of a new period of espionage or observation of our affairs by Germans and Italians.

Embassies, the high ranking ambassadors and ministers and their staffs, are not affected by the swap, but in 14 of the 25 countries of Europe, the United States will be without direct consular representation in Germany. Italy, Norway, Denmark, Albania, Belgium, Netherlands, Luxembourg, Yugoslavia, Greece, Latvia, Esthonia, Lithuania and the German-occupied portion of France.

In the German occupied part of Europe, where all the 350 returning Americans come from, the United States government will be left with only six strategic listening posts—Berlin, Rome, Budapest, Sofia, Bucharest and Helsinki. In all these capitals the United States has embassies or legations with diplomatic officers rather than just consular officers, and under the terms of the mutual expulsion of each others' lesser fry officials, the embassy staffs are permitted to function at the same old marble stands.

The United States still isn't at war with anyone, and Germany and Italy aren't officially mad at us. It's a good bit like divorce, where the parties go on dating each other though they're not married any more, and they simply haven't any permanent use for each other.

Custody of the children in this queer setup is left principally in the hands of the ranking half dozen diplomats. William Phillips of Massachusetts is ambassador in Rome with a staff of 20. We have no ambassador in Berlin, the embassy there being in charge of Leland B. Morris of Pennsylvania, who ranks as a counselor and was actually consul general. His staff numbers 30. At both Rome and Berlin—at all embassies, in fact—are military and naval attaches, service officers who can kibitz on the war from the capital fronts.

Four diplomats with the rank of envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary occupy the other listening posts in the German area: George H. Earle of Pennsylvania, at Sofia, Bulgaria; H. F. Arthur Schoenfeld of Washington, D. C., at Helsinki, Finland; Herbert C. Pell of Rhode Island at Budapest, Hungary; and Franklin M. Gunther of Florida at Bucharest, Rumania.

Gone are the other United States diplomatic and consular staffs in the Balkans, the low countries and the Balkan republics, although Ambassador Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., of Pennsylvania stationed in London, is in contact with the refugee governments of Belgium, Poland, Norway and the Netherlands.

Similararly, the consulate staff in Paris, which has been under Robert D. Murphy of Wisconsin, is homeward bound on the West Point, leaving the United States without observers in occupied France. At Vichy is Admiral William D. Leahy as ambassador, with a staff of 15. This is perhaps the touchiest assignment in the whole diplomatic corps for it involves the tough job of doing everything possible to keep France from going for all-out co-operation with the axis.

Theoretically, business as usual for the diplomatic and consular staffs goes on in the five neutral countries of Europe; Sweden, Switzerland, Spain, Portugal and Eire, and all of them are important, too for these are the countries that must be kept neutral, or at least not too pro-axis.

Machado de Assis Was Noted Brazilian Author

COMMERCIALISM is not the only basis of Pan-American friendship. A knowledge of the culture of South America is also necessary for a true understanding.

One of the great writers of Brazil, Joaquim Maria Machado de Assis, was recently honored philatelically by his government in the 1940 stamp above commemorating the 100th anniversary of his birth.

Critics have called Machado de Assis Brazil's foremost novelist. He was born in 1839, wrote poems and plays as well as novels.

Strangely enough, literary pursuits were only a sideline with Machado de Assis. He worked as a typographer in his early youth, later entered politics. He remained in government for the rest of his life, wrote only in his spare time.

His early poems and plays attracted no attention. He started writing novels when he was in his forties and became famous. His best work is "Memorias Postumas de Braz Cubas," written in 1881. It describes life in Rio de Janeiro during the latter part of the 19th century. Machado de Assis died in 1908.

There was an informal meeting held last night of those interested in the establishment of a playground on the tract of land recently donated by Mr. Beaty to the city. It was discovered that over $2,500 had already been pledged in a brief campaign.

Those who complained of the high cost of living should be satisfied with the present price of potatoes. Tubers are retailing for $5.25 the barrel, which is in marked contrast with the price at this season two years ago when the price was $15 the barrel.

The Struthers-Wells emphasized last evening that they are out to win the second half of the City Baseball League season when the Y. M. C. A. nine was defeated by the Iron Workers by a score of 11 to 2. Baldensperger opposed Wolfe on the mound, and the former had the situation well in hand.

The Warren Street Railway Company will institute a ten-minute service and run three cars on the Conewango lines during the races at the Fair Grounds next week.

Rev. Gomer B. Matthews, rector of Trinity Memorial church, was the speaker at the meeting of the Rotary Club today, speaking on India.

The Pennsylvania "Blue Laws" of 1790 were put into effect last Sunday in Warren county for the first time in a number of years when members of two baseball teams were placed under arrest on complaint of Burgess L. C. Barnes, of Clarendon. Eighteen men, from 15 to 45 years old, were arrested.

The Warren County Motor Club is sending one of its board members, W. W. Muir, and its manager, L. N. Schuler, to Harrisburg tomorrow for the ceremonies inaugurating the 20,000 mile rural road program of Governor Pinchot. Mr. Muir will be accompanied by his son, Hollis Muir, and Joe Eshop.

The attractive new picnic grounds and bathing beach, known as "The Maples" on the Allegheny river adjoining the Outing Club property, is proving a popular recreation resort for hundreds of people from Warren and vicinity.

Warren county will be represented by Sheriff H. H. Jefferson at the annual convention of the Sheriff's Association, which will be in session in Erie, July 27, 28 and 29.

The Starbrick community picnic, sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association, will be held at the home of G. R. McIntosh tomorrow.

America's Leaders

Not all the men who are leading the U. S. defense effort were born in America. From the clews given, can you name the country or state in which each of the following leaders was born, the date, and the position each holds?

1. William S. Knudsen. (a) Lithuania; (b) Denmark; (c) Sweden; (d) Minnesota.
2. William Green. (a) Ohio; (b) Ireland; (c) Colombia; (d) England.
3. Miorello H. La Guardia. (a) Russia; (b) Italy; (c) New York; (d) California.
4. Philip Murray. (a) Illinois; (b) Latvia; (c) Denmark; (d) Scotland.
5. Sidney Hillman. (a) New York, (b) Lithuania; (c) England; (d) Rumania.

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—When Mayor Marvin Kline of Minneapolis appealed to J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, to find an FBI man for a police chief, Kline was joining a parade that is making the FBI one of the most unusual employment bureaus in the land.

When Hoover informed Kline that he had such a man in his own front yard, Hoover was fulfilling his little-known function as No. 1 placement man for chiefs of police in the United States.

FBI National Police Academy graduates and men from the FBI rolls now are chiefs of police in 82 cities.

After explaining to Mayor Kline that all FBI agents worthy of conducting the Minneapolis police department were needed in national defense, Hoover told the mayor of Edward B. Hansen, a veteran of the Duluth police force, who not only had worked himself up to chief in Duluth, but had also acquitted himself with honors in the FBI's "West Point of law enforcement."

Mayor Kline grabbed his man.

A Daily Routine

THIS has been going on for months. There isn't a day passes that the FBI director doesn't have from one to six requests for a recommendation for police chief. There isn't a day that he doesn't answer these requests, generally suggesting some man who graduated from the police academy. Out of nearly 600 graduates of the NPA, 78 now are chiefs of police, 2 are superintendents of police and 12 are assistant chiefs.

In Kansas City there is 6-foot-3 L. B. Reed, who has been referred to in inner circles as the best all-around FBI man the service ever had. In Tulsa is Police Chief Ralph Colvin, the man who stopped that notorious western gangster, Wilbur Underhill; and who was in the saddle as agent in charge in Oklahoma City when the "Machine-Gun" Kelly-Baily-Bates gang was rounded up.

Oklahoma City's chief is Frank Smith, a quiet, unassuming little man with gray hair—the FBI agent who knew more about southwestern bank robbers than any other officer alive. Working, almost single-handed, in the heart of the bank robbery country, he cleaned out the bandits to such an extent that in 1937, toward the end of his FBI reign, there wasn't a single bank robbery in his territory. Incidentally, if Oklahoma Citians want to know how close they came to being without Frank Smith, let them look up the story of the "Kansas City massacre." When gunmen opened up on the car that was transporting fugitive gangster Frank Nash back to prison, Smith was sitting in the center of the back seat but, miraculously, came out of that slaughter unscathed.

They're Representative

THESE represent the kind of men who are going over to cities as chiefs of police, carrying with them FBI methods. NPA graduates who have not worked for the FBI had the cream of knowledge the FBI has assembled.

Here is another sidelight. The District of Columbia police force, because of an unprecedented epidemic of unsolved crimes, is under congressional investigation. Almost at the outset, it was disclosed that only one man in the Washington police force ever had been through the FBI's national police academy and that there is no former FBI man on the local force.

Perhaps it is pertinent to this story that Capt. Harvey G. Callahan, the only Washington policeman who ever did swallow the FBI's concentrated capsule of law enforcement, may be the next chief of police of the nation's capital.

HEARTBREAK HONEYMOON

(From Page Three)

YESTERDAY: Henry Pell's attachment for Marie Mason, the amorous radio star, has gone so far—at last. Now Luella Pell has left him, and Henry learns from Tommy McIntyre that she is going to Florida to get a divorce. More, that Tommy would like to marry her later, if she will leave him, and that he also has lent her his cottage in Florida as a home while establishing residence.

Chapter 23

Southbound, And Miserable

"SEE," said Henry. "Doesn't offering my wife your cottage give me in while she's divorcing me make you as something a little—I mean, odd? I mean, aren't you running the risk of being named the man who helped to break up my home?"

"Perhaps," said Tommy. "But I don't mind in the least. However, if I were in your place, Pell, I wouldn't make things any worse. You don't want Luella back, do you not just keep quiet and let her get her freedom? The old fatal cruelty thing will be her revenge, I rather imagine."

Henry waited for Henry to speak, and when he did not, he said: "I can go on with your life, and I'll do my best to make Luella happy—if she'll have me."

Henry sat silent and miserable. He began to realize that he wasn't really the man of the world he had begun to think himself to be. A situation such as this one had turned him, left him dazed and helpless. He pushed back his chair, leaving his luncheon half finished.

"I'd better be getting along," he said. "I haven't even unpacked my things yet. There are lot of things to be looked after." He got to his feet. "Thanks for the lunch, McIntyre."

"Forget it!" said Tommy.

The two men walked out to the roadway together. Just outside the restaurant they hesitated.

"You're not going to do anything, else to hurt Luella, are you?" Tommy asked.

Henry gave him a sharp look, his face flushed with anger. "The manner in which I handle this affair," he snapped, "is something that concerns Luella and me only."

"Wrong," said Tommy. "I love Luella, and whatever affects her is of the greatest importance to me."

Henry opened his mouth to speak—but thought better of it, turned on his heel and walked away.

But Not Happy

In the evening of that eventful day Saturday in Henry Pell's life Luella Brown Pell boarded a train which passed through her home town on its way to Florida. And Henry, sped on southward, she sat staring out of the window at the scenery, and yet not seeing it. A great ache lay in her heart—an ache that was dull and like a heavy weight.

She had been so sure of getting the word from Henry, but not a word had come. His silence meant all. Of this she was convinced. She should have been back in New York on Friday, she thought. He would have found her note already at once. "He'll at least send a wire asking for a chance to explain," she had kept telling herself. But this he had not done. He had stayed in the old home for two days, waiting, hoping, praying.

And now she was on her way to take the first steps toward obtaining a divorce. If Henry wanted to be free to marry Marie, she was far too much pride to stand in the way. She had made up her mind. There was nothing else left to do.

She had wanted to stay longer in the cottage her aunt had willed her, but this was impossible. There were too many curious eyes about her, too many questions to be answered. "How's Henry? . . . Why didn't he come with you?" "Imagine coming home without your husband, and married so short a time. . . . Don't tell me you've quarreled, or something?" "What happened—did Henry lose his job?" . . .

The questions, questions, questions. They seemed to be endless. . . . Tired being forced to smile and make all sorts of explanations . . . Henry's fine! I just came down to attend to a little business. . . . I'm going on to Florida—Henry may join me there later." . . .

Well, that was no lie. Maybe Henry would join her. . . . And she had come down to the old hometown on business. That was true, either. She had come down to get hold of some money, for the business of getting herself a divorce. Florida . . . ninety days . . . mental cruelty. . . .

She had drawn from the bank five hundred dollars her aunt had willed to her along with the cottage. It had been in the bank for some time, drawing interest—time had left it there in case anything happened which would necessitate extra funds.

Well, something had happened though she certainly had never thought she would ever be using the money as an aid in ridding herself of her husband.

She remembered a conversation she had had with Henry had once had about a hundred.

"I'll as much yours, darling, as mine," she had said.

Henry had grinned, and said: "Listen, honey, I didn't marry you for your fortune."

"Then you consider my face my fortune, sir?"

"Yes, Ma'am!" Henry had kissed her then. "I'm marrying you because you're my woman, I'm your man, and because I love you like nobody's business."

How long, long ago that seemed. Ages and ages.

She picked up a paper she had bought on the way to the train. Her eyes fell upon a section headed "Public Notices." She glanced down the items in a disinterested sort of way. Then she saw an item that caught her attention. It said:

"Please take notice that my wife, Katie, having left my bed and board, I am no longer responsible for her debts.

John Moorehouse."

She read the notice over again, wondering how soon it would be before Henry Pell put one like it in the New York papers, substituting the name Luella for the name Katie. Her eyes filled with tears. She flung the paper aside.

Almost angrily she snatched a pad and pencil from her bag. She began to write.

"Dear Henry:—

"I'll be at the Florida address given below, in case you find it necessary to communicate with me. I would like to have you keep my furniture until I can arrange to have it shipped back home.

"Luella."

She wrote the address of Tommy McIntyre's cottage at the bottom of the sheet, folded it, and placed it in an envelope. She then called the porter, and asked him to mail it for her at the first stop.

The Doghouse

IT was nearly ten o'clock that night before Henry finally got in touch with Marie. He had spent the afternoon in the lonely apartment—which continued to seem like a place wherein someone had recently died.

There he had occupied himself trying to compose some sort of telegram or letter to Luella, and trying to get Marie on the telephone. Marie was out each time he called, and each time he felt a mixture of relief and disappointment. He dreaded facing her, and yet, he wanted to do so and have done with it.

The last attempt to get hold of her brought the information that Miss Mason would be at the studio at nine o'clock that evening for a rehearsal. "I think you may be able to catch her afterwards," the maid added. Henry thanked her, and then returned to his efforts to write something to Luella. He filled the waste-paper basket with half-finished notes, telegrams, and letters, and then he gave up.

He had slumped down into a chair, frowning. After all, he argued with himself, it was really Luella's place to write to him. She was the one who had done the walking-out, not he. Besides, how did he know but what she had already left the home town for Florida? Hadn't Tommy McIntyre said that she was going to Florida after a few days at home? Of course he had.

Well, let Luella do the writing—let her write him when she was settled. She had rushed off and left him without waiting for him to get back from Chicago, without giving him a chance to tell her that he and Marie were perfectly innocent of any wrong whatsoever. So—

And now he was waiting in a small room outside the studio, waiting for Marie to join him.

The door opened, and she came in, quickly, an expression upon her face which Henry felt boded no good.

"I've tried all afternoon to get you," Henry said, rising to meet her. "But you were out, and—"

"Of course I was out," Marie cut in. "I keep after what I want. I don't sit down and let someone else get my jobs. I—"

"Then I take it you've heard the news," said Henry.

"I certainly have. Alma Latham was at the rehearsal, and she nearly knocked over the mike in her rush to tell me."

Henry shrugged. "Well, there's no need crying about it, is there?" he said somewhat dully. "I couldn't get back to New York a moment sooner."

"I think you could have if you'd really tried," said Marie. "But this is no place to talk. Take me home, and we'll talk there. I'm tired, and I'm completely disgusted."

"With me?"

"Perhaps."

"In the doghouse for a fact," Henry said, with an effort at humor.

"Come on," Marie said. "Let's get out of here."

Into the elevator, down to the street, into a taxicab, and up to the hotel where Marie lived. Into another elevator, up and up—and then the quietness of Marie's sitting-room.

"Sit down," she said. "Cigarettes there in that ebony box, as though you didn't know." She walked to the bedroom door. "I'm going to get into some lounging pajamas, and try to relax." She watched Henry moving restlessly about the room. "Do stop pacing, Henry. Mix yourself a drink, if you like."

David Gray of Florida is at Baile Atha Cliath—Dublin to you. Bert Fish of Florida is at Lisbon, and because this is the principal European port kept open for shipping and the clippers, it is the big relay point for mail and passenger services, hence essential to watch. Leland Harrison of Illinois is at Bern Switzerland; Alexander W. Wedell of Virginia is at Madrid, and Frederick A. Sterling of Texas at Stockholm.

That leaves the two big allied capitals, London and Moscow. Ambassador John G. Winant of New Hampshire at the former, and Laurence A. Steinhardt of New York at the latter. Steinhardt is rated one of the ablest men in the diplomatic service. His staff numbers 16, and in all the U. S. S. R. there are only two other U. S. foreign service officers, a consul and vice consul at Vladivostok. At London as a permanent staff of more than 50.

Herman Stanton, of Washington, D. C., has been spending his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stanton.

Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bosko have been Mrs. Bosko's brother Matt Wattko and daughter Valeria, of Youngstown, Ohio; her nephew, Edward Brierty, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Perry and son Francis, of California; Mrs. Perry is a sister of Mrs. Bosko.

On last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Perry and Mr. and Mrs. Bosko and families enjoyed a trip to Niagara Falls and Canada. They returned to their home on Tuesday.

The Foster Cemetery Association was entertained by Mrs. Mary Dudgeon on Thursday afternoon, with eighteen members and six guests present.

Mrs. Nora Hinsdale presided at the business meeting. Devotions were led by Mrs. Mabel Lindell. The committee reported that the flower beds at the cemetery had been planted and the bill was presented and paid. Mrs. Dudgeon served lunch assisted by her daughters Harriet and Mrs. Martha Anderson of Warren.

At a recent meeting of the school board the time of the opening of the school was set for September 2nd.

Rev. Galbreath, district superintendent, of Jamestown, conducted the 4th quarterly conference at the Methodist church on Wednesday evening with ten members present. Rev. D. D. Samuelson led the devotions. The various organizations of the church presented satisfactory reports.

H. M. Nelson was elected lay delegate to the annual conference at Allegheny College in Meadville in September. Ernest Lindell was elected as alternate.

Around New York

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Only 13 plays left on Broadway, and 10 of these are musicals or comedies. . . . The oldest is "Hellzapoppin," in its 4th year, and the next oldest is "Life With Father." . . .

One of these 13 is "It Happens On Ice" and in it is the interesting person of Hedi Stenuf, billed by her press agent as "The Nordic Beauty." . . . She is all of that. . . . She is both Nordic, and beautiful. . . . Miss Stenuf is one of the remarkable women's skaters in this or any country. . . .

Of the three plays that touch a serious theme, "Watch On the Rhine" is the only drama that concerns itself with the Nazis. . . . Paul Lukas continues to be the surprise hit. . . . Surprise, that is, to a few film agents who permitted him to get away from films. . . . He can write his own figure now. . . . In his dressing room it is a commonplace to count half a dozen pals from the coast. . . . They come in on every train, and Paul's dressing room has become their favorite hangout.

THE most delightful evening in the theater continues to be "Claudia," that strange, fresh, infectious comedy of young marriage. . . . "Pal Joey" is bitter and cynical and fascinating. . . . I am unable to understand the continued, full-scale success that follows "Panama Hattie." . . . It is fun, sure—bawdy, gaudy, and naughty, but you would think those things would wear out. . . . Perhaps success is due to Ethel Merman, whom many consider really a great entertainer.

A play that never has received the noise it merits has been "Separate Rooms," but here it continues into its second year, and it gives this town another example of the value of word of mouth advertising. . . . It came in on a shoestring. . . . It received faint praise. . . . But it was funny. . . . That is, it was what people want when they go to the theater. . . . It gave them the chance to sit back and relax and forget their troubles. . . . And it gave them a laugh. . . . This comedy has Lyle Talbot, Alan Dinehart and Glenda Farrell. . . . After the first night's reviews they thought they would be lucky to get more than the usual two weeks. . . . But here it is into the second year, and it proves again that, on Broadway at least, you never know.

"ARSENIC AND OLD LACE" is the wild screwball play of season. . . . "My Sister Eileen" is good, hearty fun in a Greenwich basement. . . . I am unable to define "The Beautiful People." . . . I saw it. . . . I read all the reviews. . . . I heard William Saroyan, who wrote it, tell all about it. . . . But I cannot explain nor account for it. . . . You will know all about "The Corn Is Green," with Miss Ethel Barrymore, which has been running a long time, not in bursts of popularity, but with steady box-office trade.

These are the only shows on Broadway as the summer goes into its hottest month. The newcomers won't begin to appear much before October.

Local Newlyweds to Fly to Cheyenne to Make Their Home

Garden flowers were used in pretty decoration of the First Pilgrim church for the Saturday morning wedding of Miss Margaret Hagan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hagan, 101 Cayuga avenue, and Charles Dinsmoor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Dinsmoor, 105 North South street.

Rev. L. W. Drury, pastor, read the ceremony at ten o'clock, after which a reception was held at the Hagan home and the newlyweds left for Cleveland, O., where they would take a plane to Cheyenne, Wyo., where they will make their home. The bride wore a beige frock and matching accessories for her traveling ensemble.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Edward Miller played "Beautiful Dreamer," "Until" and "O Promise Me" by DeKoven; also the traditional Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white chiffon with lace trim and a fingertip veil of imported French net. White roses and baby's breath formed her headband and arm bouquet.

Miss Betty Braunschweiger, as maid of honor, wore powder blue organdy with lace trimming and a pink net hat. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of pink roses and baby's breath. The bride's sister, Miss Phyllis Hagan, as flower girl, wore powder blue taffeta and carried yellow daisies.

The bride's brother, Charles Hagan, was Mr. Dinsmoor's best man and Gail Geer, cousin of the bridegroom, was usher.

The wedding luncheon was served at the Hagan home at noon for twelve guests, with a color scheme of pink and white centering about a three-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bridal couple. Mrs. Hagan wore green sheer with white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses and Mrs. Dinsmoor wore blue sheer, white accessories and a pink rose corsage.

Out of town wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Rapp, of Sackett; Mr. and Mrs. George Rapp, Lander; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rapp and daughter, Anna, Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Nelson, Rogers Mills; Mrs. Eleanor Hallabaugh, Tidioute; Mrs. Raymond Nelson, Pittsfield.

Both young people are Warren High School graduates. The bride, member of the Class of 1940, has been employed by the G. C. Murphy Company; Mr. Dinsmoor, Class of 1939, was also graduated by the Lincoln School of Aeronautics in Lincoln, Neb., and is employed by United Airlines at Cheyenne.

Parties for the bride-elect have been given by Miss Betty Braunschweiger and Miss Kathleen Simmons; Mrs. Gertrude Johnson; Mr. and Mrs. Rapp.

DYED lamb which, in weight, shade and texture, closely resembles fine beaver, is used to make this smart 30-inch fur coat for low and medium budgets. The back is gracefully flared; the shoulders gently rounded. It comes with or without the embroidered motif on collar and pockets and in two shades of brown—medium dark and very dark. The wide felt hat is banded in dyed lamb to match the coat.

DEIN-BACHER, American designer, uses luxurious white cacul to make a deceptively casual coat to wear over afternoon dinner and evening clothes. Full pouch pockets and bracelength sleeves with cuffs are interesting details.

Armis Hahm Is Bride Of John J. Casses, Jr. On Saturday Morning

On Saturday morning at eleven o'clock in St. Joseph's rectory, Father Edward Jacobs united in marriage Miss Armis Hahm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christie Hahm, of Buffalo, N. Y., and John J. Casses, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Casses, 313 United avenue, this city.

The only attendants were Mrs. Tod Barlet and Norbert Casses, sister and brother of the bridegroom.

The bride was attractive in a satin brocade gown, with fingertip veil of tulle held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a white prayer book.

Mrs. Barlet wore a floor-length gown of yellow chiffon and a wreath of matching flowers in her hair. Her corsage was of pink roses and blue bachelor buttons.

Immediately following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bridegroom's parents to members of the immediate families. Later, the couple left for a short wedding trip, the bride choosing for her going-away ensemble a yellow tailored frock and brown accessories, with which she wore a gardenia corsage.

Shower parties have been given in her honor by Miss Dorothy Miller and Mrs. John Casses, Sr., and Miss Kay Farrell is to be hostess on Thursday evening for a shower in honor of the bride.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, July 21—If the Cardinals win the National League pennant, Branch Rickey will insist that one of the world's series games be played at night . . . A flip of the coin says Ray Robinson will beat Sammy Angott tonight in Philly . . . It'll be Eddie Arcaro aboard Whirlaway in the $50,000 classic at Chicago next Saturday (if the jockey club stewards don't set him down) . . . Here's a second to the motion of George Manoukian of Hamden, Conn., that William Gargan play the title role in "The Life of Lou Gehrig" . . . No confirmation yet to reports that Doc Prothro will leave the Phillies at the end of the season—if not earlier—to become president of the Memphis Club . . . Big leaguers who have batted against Satchel Paige, the negro star, in exhibition games say he is faster than Bob Feller . . . Chicago promises the biggest gate of the season if it gets the Louis-Nova fight.

The Week's Wash

Bill Tilden, who is picking up a few kopecks giving lessons at a New York club, is booked solid for a month . . . Mike Jacobs will stage the Jimmy Webb-Gus Lesnevich light-heavy title bout in Newark as a favor to Abe Green, the Jersey boxing commissioner . . . Greasy Neale, the Philadelphia Eagle coach, lives and sleeps football. The other night he dreamed he caught a punt and ran 105 yards for a touchdown against the Chicago Bears . . . First World's Series offer received by the Yanks came from a fan who wanted two behind the Yankee dugout . . . Al Smith and Jim Bagby (they stopped DiMaggio) were the New York World-Telegram's "Co-Stars of the week" . . . Lynn Waldorf the Northwestern football coach, has bought a home out there . . . The Long Island Indians are negotiating to become a farm for the Green Bay Packers this fall.

Today's Guest Star

Herbert Allan, New York Post: "Bobby Riggs, who plays tennis almost 12 months out of the year for fun and food, but is disengaged at the moment, dropped in for a look at the New York State tournament yesterday . . . He looked rather peaked, probably because he isn't eating this week."

Hollywood Happenings

Forest Evashevski says he is taking twice as much punishment blasting a path for Tom Harmon in the latter's pictures as he did in three years at Michigan. One play was run 19 times before the director was satisfied. And the posse which tackled Evashevski included two Washington Redskin linemen and four Southern California stars . . . Eddie Simms, the old heavyweight, forgot the script and knocked leading-man Robert Sterling cold in the knockout scene of "Ringside Maisie" . . . Sammy Baugh, completing "King of the Texas Rangers," will pay a flying visit to Sweetwater, Tex., before reporting to the Washington Redskins at San Diego . . . And John Kimbrough is considering bids from three studios for a picture to be made before he reports late next month to the New York football Yankees.

SPORT SPATTERINGS

"Elmo" Wolfe doesn't go into the Army air corps until August 28, but yesterday was his last appearance in this section on a ball diamond before he is greeted by Uncle Sam and taught to fly, starting next month. So it's time for this corner to join the hosts of baseball, basketball and football fans in bidding a farewell to the current Forge outfielder, and to pay a sincere tribute. "Elmo" started his sports career in this city with the Warren High School basketball and football teams. He won two grid letters and three in basketball, playing with the Dragons. At Edinboro Teachers he was awarded four more letters, two each in basketball and football and then Wolfe came back to Warren, where in the summer time he played baseball with local and sectional sandlot teams which included the Moose, Warren Indies, and the Forge. Burdette J. also had his fling at organized ball, which he tried for a couple of years. He was a member of one of Warren's most notable families in the sports world, and did the community justice in giving fans everything he had to offer in every sport in which he participated. The name of "Elmo" Wolfe will always stand out in the records of sports in this section. Good luck to you, Burdette, and now we say so long to a fine athlete and a swell friend.

Golfers in this district who would like to play in the state publinx tourney this year will trek to Hershey for play which starts Friday of this week and will be complete on Saturday. A field of over one hundred and fifty amateur linksmen are expected to enter the seventh annual classic of the Keystone state. Since 1936, second year of the tourney, all entries have been Pennsylvania golfers, though as we understand it, it is not necessary to reside in this state to play in the tournament. Most of the champions have come from the areas of Pittsburgh or Philadelphia over the six-year history. Sam Musico won the most colorful of all the annual affairs thus far, when last year the regular play ended in a three-way tie between Musico, of South Park Golf Club, Pittsburgh, and Wilmer Faber, Reading, and Vash Hromyak, Sharon. In the playoff Musico hit 74, Hromyak 76, and Faber 80 over a par 71 course. This year is expected to find the largest number of entries in the history of the championship tourney, with four Pittsburgh clubs entering golfers, and the same number from Philadelphia, plus a number from various other points throughout the state.

Quickies . . . Ludlow and Eagles meet again Thursday night at Ludlow . . . Local club will be out to avenge last week's 3-0 setback . . . Why not try and see tonight's City League softball game between the K. of C. and Recreation Club? . . . Promises to be a hot contest . . . This corner is looking for Ray (Sugar) Robinson to meet his first ring defeat tonight in his scrap with Sammy Angott, N. B. A. lightweight champion . . . The New York flash is good, but Angott is more experienced than the fighters Ray has tangled with thus far . . . Old Timers have another week to think about what they're going to do to Jamestown's vets of former years on the diamond . . . Just a little too much rain last Saturday night . . . Ditto in regard to the Bradford fight card . . . Galento will have to come another day . . . But to the promoters up that way, we think you had a swell card lined up, and another trial might bring a smile from Old Sol instead of a shower from Pluvius.

STATE HOSPITAL WHIPS GOWANDA BY 4-1 MARGIN

The State Hospital made this season a definite success on the baseball diamond Saturday when they won their biggest fracas of the campaign, the annual setto with Gowanda, N. Y., State Hospital, by a score of 4 to 2.

Jim Rose was the star, if any individual could be called the single hero, as he dropped the invaders with only six hits and had those scattered so as to be ineffective.

The light but steady hitting of the North Warren crew brought three runs in the seventh inning after the game had been deadlocked in the third by Gowanda. Four singles in the seventh scored Murphy, Rose, and Harold Brown.

Gowanda came back with another count in the eighth on a wild pitch by Rose, but Jim held them down to that lone marker through the rest of the game.

There were only two extra base hits over the entire nine innings. Borowski tripled in the eighth for Gowanda, being the player to score on Rose's wild toss, and Chuck Clawson belted a double for the winners in the second inning.

MARCONIS WIN THIRD STRAIGHT IN INTERSTATE

Jack Kifer scattered nine hits well enough yesterday for Warren to win its third straight start in the Interstate League at Russell by a score of 15 to 4.

Harold Brown and Chuch Clawson, Warren's popular "Baseball Twins," volleyed back and forth for batting honors and when the smoke had cleared both had played a major role in piling up eighteen hits and fifteen runs for the Marconis.

Brown had two doubles, a triple and a home run in five times at bat to pace everyone in the contest. Clawson had two doubles. Jack Kifer had only one hit but that was a four base clout. Tony Notoro lent a helping hand to the cause with a three bagger and after that barrage what was left for Russell was nothing more than debris.

WEEK-END SPORTS REVIEW

By the Associated Press

Chicago—Ben Hogan, 10 under par for 72 holes, wins $1,200 first prize in Chicago Open with record 274 to finish in money for 51st straight time; fires two 69's on last day to shade U. S. Open Champion Craig Wood by two shots, with 1940 Winner Dick Metz third.

New York—Frankie Parker bowls over Jackie Kramer of California in semi-final and Ladislav Hecht, former Czech Davis Cup ace, in final to win New York State clay court tennis title; Kramer and Schroeder, U. S. champions, take doubles crown.

Los Angeles—Strongly-backed Mioland runs third as Edward S. Moore's Big Pebble, at $5.40 for $1, beats Paperboy to take down $62,475 in Hollywood Gold Cup; Winner's time for mile and a quarter is 2:02 3-5.

Spokane—Bill Welch, Houston (Tex.) long shot, defeats Jack Kerns, Denver, 6 and 5, in final round of National Public Links Golf Championship.

New York—Joseph E. Widener's Roman, 12½ to 1 shot, takes Fleetwing Handicap at Empire City by four lengths over T. M. Dorsett and Harvard Square as A. G. Vanderbilt's New World, the favorite, runs eighth in field of ten; Jockey Eddie Arcaro suspended, effective Tuesday, for rough riding in second race and case referred to jockey club stewards.

Minneapolis—Ted DuBois, Winnipeg, succeeds Joe Burk, retired, as National Senior Singles sculling champion as Undine Boat Club, Philadelphia, wins team title and Fairmount Rowing Club Philadelphia, takes eight-oared race.

FORGE BEATEN BY WELLSVILLE IN NIGHT GAME

After losing by a four run margin on Wilder Field yesterday afternoon, the National Forge baseballers journeyed to Wellsville for a night game and found themselves on the short end of the count once again, 10 to 6.

The Forgers took a one run lead in the first canto and held it until the third when the Sinclairs tied the game. In the fourth, the Sinclairs banged out enough hits for three more runs and repeated this feat in the sixth. Two in the seventh and one in the eighth put them well ahead.

Irvine didn't score again until the seventh when they pushed one more marker across. In the ninth the visitors scored four times but were the same number of runs behind when the final out was made.

Caffery and Massa were the battery for the Forge; Hienick and Susi teamed up for Wellsville.

The win gave the Sinclairs the edge this season with two wins in three games against the Morrison combine.

Yesterday's two losses changed the Forge records to eleven wins and four losses.

Next Sunday afternoon the Lindy Miles team of Endicott, N. Y., which was booked earlier this season but cancelled when its lineup wasn't at full strength, will play at Wilder Field in a doubleheader. The Endicotts have a strong club now, and promise the Forge two fine games.

Last night's score by innings:
Forge ... 100 000 104—6 10 2
Wellsville 011 303 21x—10 12 2
Batteries: Forge—Caffery and Massa; Sinclairs — Hienick and Susi.

Akron Killian Celts Whip Forge As Fans Honor "Elmo" Wolfe

The Akron Killian Celtics didn't go out of their way to make "Elmo" Wolfe Day at Irvine a big success yesterday, though it was, by beating the Forge 6 to 2, and limiting their hosts to only seven hits.

Wolfe received a present from his teammates, and then proceeded to thank them with a single in the eighth, after which he scored one of the Forgers' two tallies.

Akron's pitcher, Joyce, kept the game under his thumb nail over the entire route, and received fine support from the bats of his mates which overshadowed four Celt errors, the first baseman for the Celtics, and Coey, second baseman hit three baggers for the day's longest bingles and Joyce, himself, banged out a double.

Hank Wise, who did the tossing for the Irvine crew, couldn't get settled in the first inning and forced a run home on a hit and three straight walks.

Joyce's two base knock and a single by Coey brought two across in the second. Garcia tripled and scored on Vincent's long fly to Burns in left field for a fourth run in the third. And then Coey's triple brought in the final two runs in the seventh.

The Forge finally broke a threatening shutout in the eighth inning when Wolfe scored from third on a hit and run play with Morrison hitting to the pitcher and being thrown out at first, but "Elmo" being well enough ahead of the play to score.

Again in the ninth, when Rosequist led a parade of pinch-hitters, the Forge was able to score, but only once. Rosey belted a single into left field, went to second when Creola walked, and scored on a hit by Gagliardi, batting for Burns, with two men out. Wolfe then batted and forced Gagliardi at second, Coey to Wass, to make his final play on Wilder Field before joining Uncle Sam the twenty-eighth of this month in the air corps, and to end the game with the Forge on the short end of the count. It was their third loss of the year.

Increase in Fight Broadcasts Follows Mike Jacobs' Shift

Actually it's the listener who has benefitted by the shift of the Mike Jacobs fights from NBC to MBS, according to C. E. Butterfield, Associated Press radio editor. The fan is getting more ringside broadcasts than ever, he says.

Before the transfer, NBC was the only network that paid regular attention to professionals, with other chains picking up occasional amateur events or a rare big-timer. Now, two networks are much on the job.

For NBC, somewhat chagrined over losing the Jacobs bouts, decided it still was to have fights. It has gone to promoters in other centers and signed contracts.

As an indication of just how busy the fight microphone is becoming, the advance schedule for the next two weeks shows at least four matches. NBC-blue will have two this week, tonight's Ray Robinson vs. Sammy Angott at Philadelphia and tomorrow night's Red Burman vs. Melio Bettina at Brooklyn.

MBS comes forward next week with a pair. July 28 it offers Fritzie Zivic vs. Freddy Cochrane, and on the 30th it is to have Billy Soose vs. George Abrams at New York.

The buyer who picked out a car at the first automobile show paid six times as much per pound for his machine as today's buyer pays.

United States-built heavy bombers were expected to be the spearhead of these attacks which, it was said, will surpass in fury the period from June 16 to July 10 in which the British have said 7,000,000 pounds of bombs were poured on Cologne, Bremen and the Ruhr.

Six German planes were reported destroyed and three RAF fighters were listed as missing in today's air assault.

Capital Gossip

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — America is seeing America as it never has before. Tie the United States with the strings of a constantly tightening national emergency and the widespread fattening of pay envelopes, and you'll see why 1941 may be the greatest travel year on the books for some time to come.

There's no better pulse-taker of travel in the country than Thomas P. Henry, president of the Automobile Association of America. He gathers statistics from dozens of sources and this year he is able to toss them into the hopper and grind out the simple phrase: "Travel is booming."

Car registrations have exceeded late winter estimates. Gasoline consumption has soared to a new all-time peak. The national parks, Canada and Mexico are adding up seasonal records ahead of all previous years. And for further proof that America is on the go as never before, there is the record-breaking routings handled by the AAA and other motor clubs.

Let's take a few of the state and city auto club reports, just to give some idea: Michigan, 38 per cent increase over last year; Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Norfolk, Cleveland and the states of Missouri and Rhode Island, approximately 20 per cent increase; Louisville, up 38 per cent; the state of New York, 27 per cent; and California, 32 per cent.

Canadian Figures Jump

THE national park figures are slow coming in, but estimates for the first month or six weeks of the season indicate a 10 to 20 per cent visitor increase in all parks over last year's high figures.

D. Leo Dolan, chief of the Canadian Travel Bureau, reports that in one week, at eight Canadian entry points in New Brunswick, Quebec and Ontario, travel to Canada on 60-day permits (persons who stayed 48 hours or less and did not have to have extended permits were not counted) increased from two to two and a half times over 1940.

In recent months I have had a number of queries from readers asking if it is possible to go to Canada while she is at war. According to Mr. Dolan, more than 14,000,000 Americans went to Canada in 1940 for stays of longer than 48 hours and restrictions are no different now than they were then.

The same applies to Mexico. Because of some whimsy not yet made clear, travel to our nearest "good neighbor" to the south started off very slowly this year. For four months, it was no more than normal and a little under last year; but the next two months saw approximately a 30 per cent increase over last year's high figures. Since then, the flow across the Rio Grande and borders to the west is developing into a sizable flood.

Take Your Choice

SO THERE you have it. America is on wheels as it never was before. From Lake St. Jean to Acapulco, they are angling for ouananiche or red trout, or buying gardenias at a few cents an armload, or sending wish-you-were-here postcards to the folks back home.

The "good neighbor" boys in Washington have their own version of the travel to Canada and Mexico (and the rest of Latin America), but the travel experts here who take a broader view say it's just a simple case of restlessness and rising incomes.

The former always occurs in periods of great national tension. When money comes along at the same time, folks just have to get out and get going, whether it's to see the Gaspe, Popocatepetl, or to visit son John, who is earning his $21-per as trainee in Uncle Sam's own version of a blitzkrieg army.

Twelve Deaths on Highways Over Weekend

A Missouri man and his wife were killed and two others of their family were hurt when their automobile struck an embankment on the Pennsylvania turnpike, near Everett. The victims were Van I. Nettleton and his wife of Kenwood Springs, Missouri. A daughter, Mary, 27, was reported in a serious condition in an Everett hospital. A son, Van I. Nettleton, Jr., 33, received lacerations.

Alex Smith, 47, and Horace McHenry, 44, of New Castle, were killed by a hit-run driver of a truck at New Castle. Charles D. Blessing, 74, of the Dauphin county home, was fatally injured by an automobile.

Many members of the British House of Parliament now are serving in the army.

Therefore, he said, it would be taking a grave national risk, unless congress were to make possible the maintenance of the present, full, effective strength of the army during the coming year and give training to as many additional Americans as possible.

He added that it would be a "tragic error" to eliminate about two-thirds of the trained soldiers and three-fourths of officer personnel.

The steps which the chief executive took to underscore the administration's desire for extended service during a period of world crisis was considered to some extent an acknowledgment of a strong opposition existent in congress. Compromises have been advanced.

But Mr. Roosevelt said he was not asking congress for specific language in a specific bill. He said that he hoped the legislators "will acknowledge this national emergency either for a specific period or until revocation by the congress or the president."

Other government changes saw Lord Hankey appointed paymaster general and 38-year-old Richard Austen Butler elevated from parliamentary undersecretary for foreign affairs to president of the board of education.

Butler replaces Herwald Ramsbotham, who was appointed chairman of the unemployment assistance board to succeed Lord Rushcliffe, now retired. Ramsbotham was made a baron.

Initial press comment on the changes which also included switches in several undersecretaryships, was characterized chiefly by criticism of Churchill's failure to head off-repeated demands for appointment of a minister of production.

Some well-informed sources, however, said Churchill was considering such an appointment and might announce creation of the ministry at the forthcoming parliamentary debate on production.

Most observers believed the choice in that event would lie between Lord Beaverbrook, now minister of supplies, and Ernest Bevin, minister of labor.

In general, the press reaction was that Cooper's assignment to the Orient was justified.

Political circles regarded the changes merely as a tightening of governmental machinery and a reflection of Churchill's desire to get younger men into responsible positions.

Bracken, for instance, before the war chairman of the financial news and editor of the Banker, is 40.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, July 21—(AP)—Wheat prices declined fractionally early today reflecting the Chicago storage situation and prospects that some excess grain may be released for market by fall.

Opening unchanged to ¼ higher, July 1.01 ½, September 1.03⅞-1.04, all wheat contracts later declined. Corn started unchanged to ⅛ off, September 75, December 77½.

Consider Situation Critical

to American safety is less than it was one year ago when, so far as the army is considered, the United States was in a woefully weak position. I do not believe that the danger to our national safety is only about the same as it was a year ago.

"I do believe—I know—that the danger today is infinitely greater. I do believe—I know—that in all truth we are in the midst of a national emergency."

RALLY SERVICE BEING PLANNED HERE TOMORROW

Two events of considerable interest have been scheduled for members of the Bethlehem Congregational church during this week, the young people having a rally service on Tuesday and the entire congregation joining in an outing on Wednesday.

The Young People's Society will take part in a Chautauqua Conference rally and echo service to be held in Wildcat Park at Ludlow at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening, when young people's groups of Mission Covenant churches of DuBois, Ridgway, Johnsonburg, Kane, Bradford and Sugar Grove will be present.

The early part of the evening will be spent with games and recreation, with a campfire service and roast following. Members and friends of the local group are urged to attend and are reminded to meet at the church at 6:45 o'clock.

Wednesday afternoon and evening, the Bethlehem Congregational Sunday school will hold its annual outing at Island Park at Youngsville.

Games and entertainment will be provided for the children in the afternoon and all members and friends are invited for the tureen supper to be served at six o'clock Coffee, cream and sugar will be provided by the school committee and those attending are asked to bring a tureen, rolls and table service.

A vesper service will follow.

Russell

Russell, July 21—The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the local Methodist church will meet at the church Wednesday at 12:30 o'clock and transportation will be furnished for those going to the cottage of Mrs. Harold Hale for a picnic dinner. Those attending are asked to bring tureens only.

The 31st reunion of the T. J. Pratt Class was held Thursday at the home of Henry and Cora Wesner, with lunch served under the trees to 27 members and friends. Henry Wesner presided at the business meeting, when the following were elected: President, Miss Cora Morgan; vice president, Bert Hough; secretary-treasurer, Edna Lyon. Present from away were Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Harris, Avon Park, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Tambling, Brocton, N. Y.; Mrs. Mary Van Croix, Melbourne, Fla.

New Pictures From Martinique, French-Held Hot Spot In Caribbean

Ancient Fort Guards Against Invasion

U. S. Built Planes Rust in Salt Air

Still a big theoretical wrench in the military machine the U. S. is building for hemisphere defense is the tiny French-owned island of Martinique. The Vichy government scoffs at possibility the Caribbean island could be used for German operations against the United States, but declares it will be defended wholeheartedly should the U. S. try occupation. These are new pictures just arrived from the island. Above, the shrubbery-shrouded walls of Fort Royal, which guards the outermost point of Fort-de-France, capital of the island. The town itself is seen in the left foreground. Right: The tri-color of France flies over American-built warplanes, bought by France before the German conquest and since immobilized on the island. Exposed to sun and salt air, they are rusting in disuse.

OBITUARY

MRS. SARAH E. DONAHEY

Funeral services in memory of Mrs. Sarah E. Donahey, of Tiona, were held on Sunday, with a prayer service at 12:30 o'clock at the Peterson Funeral Home. Rev. A. G. Meade, Evangelical pastor from Clarendon, conducted the service and a trio, composed of Vern Albaugh, Mrs. A. G. Dykins and Mrs. Ned Henry, sang a hymn, "In the Garden."

The funeral party left immediately for the Donahey Hill United Brethren church, where services were conducted by Rev. W. B. Tobias, pastor. Interment was made in the Donahey Hill cemetery, with the following grandsons acting as bearers: John and Paul Smith, Rudolph and Leslie Donahey, Dale and Dean Meddock.

Attending from away were W. P. Donahey, Columbus, O.; Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Cousineau, Worthington, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Donahey, Hornell, N. Y.; Mrs. George Donahey and family, of Starr.

VICTOR EDWARD NELSON

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nelson, of Warren R. D. 2, that their son, Victor Edward Nelson, passed away on Saturday, July 19, in the San Bernardino Veterans' Facility, San Bernardino, Calif.

He was born in Boston, Mass., on July 30, 1907 and had served in the United States Army Air Corps for 14 years. He had been ill for the past two years.

Besides his parents, he leaves his wife, Marie, and one son, Victor, Jr.; two sisters, Mrs. Catherine Palmer, of Jamestown, N. Y., and Miss Victoria Nelson, of Warren.

Funeral services and burial take place today in San Bernardino.

MRS. NATHANIEL LOREE

The funeral of Mrs. Nathaniel Loree, 315 Union street, was held at three o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Peterson Funeral Home, with Rev. J. A. Davidson, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating. The following grandsons were bearers for interment in the Yankee Bush cemetery: Myron and Clair Grosch, Robert Ostergard, Jr., Virgil Hinsdale, Ralph Loree, Jr., and Franklin Riggs.

Those who came from away included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ostergard and son, Robert, Jr., of Strathroy, Ontario; Mrs. Grace Hinsdale, Mrs. Dora Young and Mrs. Gene Young, Erie; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Perkins, Ripley, N. Y.; Harry Songer, Jr., U. S. S. Nashville, now in New York City.

MRS. CLARA A. CASE

Mrs. Clara A. Case, a resident of Irvine practically all her lifetime, passed away Sunday morning at Lake Worth, Fla. Funeral announcements will be made later.

Family Reunions

MITCHELL FAMILY

The 26th annual reunion of the William Mitchell family was held at the community house at Cobbs Corners on Sunday, July 13. There were 64 members and three visitors present from Dunkirk and Fredonia, N. Y., Youngsville, Lottsville, Spring Creek and Corry.

Dinner was served at one o'clock and, in the absence of President Carl Christensen, the business session was called to order by the vice president, Alice Mitchell. The secretary's report was given by Evelyn Fox and it was decided to hold the next reunion at the same place, with Mr. and Mrs. George Lingren, of Dunkirk, entertaining. The date will be decided upon later.

WEIDERHOLD REUNION

The 15th reunion of descendants of the late George and Barbara Weiderhold, former residents of Youngsville, was held at Celoron Park on Sunday, July 6, with an attendance of about 45 from Baltimore, Md.; Cleveland, O.; Buffalo, N. Y.; Erie, Corry Warren, Youngsville and Irvine.

After a bountiful dinner was served, a business session was held and the present officers were retained as follows: President, Lou Weiderhold; vice president, Leo Weiderhold; secretary - treasurer, Ethel Ross.

After spending a pleasant day, the group dispersed to meet again the same place next year on the first Sunday after July 4.

Germans Declare That Hitler's Invasion Armies Have Annihilated Entire Soviet Division of About 15,000 Troops, While Kremlin Reports Cite Numerous Instances of Fierce Resistance by the Defending Forces

MOSCOW HAS BOMBLESS 45-MINUTE AIR RAID

BULLETIN

Berlin, July 21—(AP)—A "big, destructive battle is in progress east of the Stalin line," a German military spokesman reported tonight. He compared the situation, at the end of the first month of war on the eastern front, to the situation on the western front between the Meuse river and the English channel after the turning of the Maginot line in June, 1940. Even as the Germans gave the harried French and British forces no breathing spell then, he said, so the Germans now are not giving the Russians time to reorganize after smashing the Stalin line.

By the Associated Press

The Germans declared today that Adolf Hitler's invasion armies had annihilated an entire Soviet division—about 15,000 troops—in fighting around Mogilev, on the Dneiper river front guarding Moscow while Russians also reported heavy carnage inflicted on the Nazis in the 30-day-old struggle.

Mogilev lies 80 miles southwest of Smolensk, where the Germans have driven a salient to within 230 miles of the Soviet capital.

DNB, the official German news agency, said numerous Soviet divisions were encircled in the region north of Vitebsk, on the central front, and that Russian troops had suffered heavy casualties in vain attempts to break out of the Nazi ring.

Soviet dispatches from the front gave a different picture, citing numerous instances of fierce Russian defense and reporting that in one sector, a Red tank unit smashed through a screen of German armored forces to scatter a large concentration of Nazi infantry.

Moscow had a 45-minute air raid alarm starting at 10 a. m., but no bombs fell.

A Reuters (British News Agency) dispatch said Moscow had a 45-minute air raid alarm beginning at 10 a. m. No incidents were reported.

Hitler's field headquarters asserted that German forces still were plunging ahead, with numerous Red Army units encircled or destroyed.

In the southern theatre, the Nazi High Command said "German, Rumanian and Hungarian troops are pushing the defeated enemy" in a drive into the Soviet Ukraine.

"Throughout last night, stubborn fighting continued in the Polotsk-Nevel, Smolensk and Novgorad Volynsky directions," a Red Army communique said this morning.

"On all other parts of the front, nothing of significance occurred."

The Russians declared officially that a Soviet infantry division surrounded and wiped out a "large enemy motorized formation," destroyed 100 German trucks and captured 189 others, five tanks, four armored cars, two planes and quantities of guns.

In another action, the Russians were reported to have wrecked 300 trucks, slaughtered two battalions of Nazi infantry, and taken prisoners and booty.

Behind the German lines, marauding Soviet guerilla bands were said to have cut communications, ambushed Nazi troop columns and raided supply depots.

"Guerilla detachments are inflicting heavy losses on the enemy", a Red Army bulletin said.

In the war in the air, Premier Mussolini's High Command reported that RAF bombers again raided the Italian west coast port of Naples early today, killing 15 persons and injuring 25.

Other RAF warplanes, swarming across the English channel in broad daylight, pounded the industrial city of Lille, in Nazi-occupied France, after smashing overnight

Four Sentenced for Clearfield Robbery

Clearfield, July 21—(AP)—Four men, including a well known Curwensville merchant, today were sentenced to prison terms ranging from 21 months to four years in connection with the burglary of $9,000 furs from the Clearfield Taxidermy Company last March 31.

Reuben Robinson, the merchant, received the heaviest sentence, four to eight years and a $2,000 fine. He had been convicted of aiding in the burglary by plotting the theft and had been denied a new trial. Free under $50,000 bail pending sentencing, Robinson was committed to county jail to await transfer to Western Penitentiary.

Robinson's counsel immediately filed notice of intention to appeal to the state supreme court.

RIAL OBSEQUIES WILL BE HELD AT GREENSBURG

Members of Governor's Office See Little Likelihood Of State's Executive Appointing Immediate Successor to Head Liquor Control Board

SENATORS TO ATTEND

Harrisburg, July 21.—(AP)—Members of Governor James' office said today there was little likelihood of the state's chief executive appointing an immediate successor to William Smith Rial, 65, chairman of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, who died Saturday.

Frederick T. Gelder will serve as temporary chairman of the board. W. Worrell Wagner is the other member.

The governor's office also said he undoubtedly would go to Greensburg tomorrow to attend funeral services for Rial who died of a heart ailment in his home there. The services will be held at 2 p. m. (EST) in the First Methodist church of Greensburg.

Rial was stricken late Friday night shortly after arriving home from Harrisburg. He was a close personal friend of the governor's who named him to the liquor board post.

The governor was named an honorary pall bearer along with Attorney General Claude T. Reno, under whom Rial once served as deputy; former State Supreme Court Justice John W. Kephart; Judges C. E. Whitten, Richard D. Laird, D. J. Snyder and J. Hilary Keenan of Westmoreland county courts; James F. Torrance, state Republican chairman; Major General Edward Martin, commander of the 28th Division; Major J. C. Mauk, of the State Police, Gelder and Wagner.

Charles H. Ealy, president protempore of the state senate, named senators from counties adjoining Westmoreland and John H. Dent (D.-Westmoreland) to represent the Senate at the rites.

Rial formerly served as deputy attorney general. He was a practicing attorney since 1901 and held several county offices, including that of county solicitor. He also served two years in the state Sen-

"V" CAMPAIGN CALLED SUCCESS

London, July 21—(AP)—A British Broadcasting Company executive asserted today that Britain's V-for-victory campaign to raise an underground army against Germany was the "first pitched propaganda battle of the war" and the British apparently "are winning it."

The executive, European News Editor N. F. Newsome, said the V drive was one of a series of experiments to test the readiness of peoples of occupied countries to accept leadership from London.

"There will be other things to worry the Germans," he added.

Newsome said there would be other leadership experiments "until one day we feel able to give the word to the underground army in Europe to go over the top for us in the final offensive."

Britons claim a "V" army of millions are mobilized throughout German-conquered nations in a

NAZI PLOT IN BOLIVIA IS NIPPED

Number of Prominent Residents, Including Former Finance Minister Estenssoro, Are Under Arrest In Connection With Alleged Conspiracy Which Police Declare Had Been Smashed by Timely Action of President Penaranda

GERMAN MINISTER IS ORDERED TO GO HOME

La Paz, Bolivia, July 21.—(AP)—A number of prominent Bolivians, including former Finance Minister Victor Paz Estenssoro, were under arrest today in connection with an alleged Nazi plot which police said had been smashed by the timely action of President Enrique Penaranda, advocate of close cooperation with the United States.

Ernst Wendler, German minister, was ordered expelled from the country. President Penaranda said he had documentary proof that the minister had attempted to meddle in Bolivia's domestic affairs.

Essenssoro, a member of the chamber of deputies, and cabinet member until June 20 when he resigned in a disagreement over the exchange rate of the peso and dollar, was described by police as head of "The Nationalist Revolutionary Movement." That organization was dissolved automatically with proclamation of a state of siege.

The country still was under a state of siege, but the capital and provinces were reported quiet. Defense Minister Gen. Miguel Candia arrived at Cochabamba, a farm center where a large German settlement is situated, to lead further investigations there

Four newspapers, two of which were mentioned in Washington's axis blacklist, were suspended by the government, and three newspapermen were among those arrested.

Commenting on the action against Wendler, the president declared in an interview that the government "could not adopt such serious measures without being fully convinced that its attitude was based on justice."

Another government source charged Wendler "provided the

TWO ARE VICTIMS OF HIT-SKIP OPERATOR

New Castle, July 21—(AP)—A man who purportedly admitted he was the operator of a truck which killed two men and critically injured a third in a hit-run accident was held today on an involuntary manslaughter charge.

Detective Chief Ralph Criswell said John Saesan, 30, of New Castle, admitted he was driving his truck at the time of the accident Saturday.

The dead, Horace McHenry, 44, and Alex Smith, 47, both of New Castle, were found in a street together with Harry Atkins, 44, also of New Castle, who was taken to a hospital in serious condition.

TWO GIRLS ARE FOUND SLAIN IN MASSACHUSETTS

YOUTH IS IN CUSTODY

Salem, Mass., July 21—(AP)—The rape-slayings of two teen-age girls, a playsuit-clad high schooler who vanished on a grocery-buying stroll and a comely bookkeeper who had a country club dance date, held attention today in twin investigations.

An anonymously telephoned tip was gruesomely fruitful for the second time in two days when police found the ravished body of Frances M. Cochran, 19, of Lynn, Mass., yesterday in a roadside thicket here.

The brown-haired employe of a leather factory, missing since Thursday night, had been strangled to death, Medical Examiner Ignatius Zielenski said.

Soon afterward, District Attorney Robert F. Bradford announced at neighboring Reading that a 15-year-old boy was held there in the killing of Constance Shipp, also 15, whose mutilated body police discovered Saturday—also after a telephone hint—in a closed Reading parsonage near her home. The youth had been taken into custody soon after the bludgeoned, slashed body was found.

Mrs. Harold Cochran, mother of Frances, broadcast from a Salem radio station yesterday an appeal to her daughter to come home. Half an hour later the station received the telephone tip and relayed it to police.

A high school class ring and a topaz ring, still on the fingers, helped Lynn Police Sgt. J. Henry Wall identify Miss Cochran's severely battered body. The forehead was gashed. A broken tree branch had been thrust into her mouth, apparently as a gag.

Trampled grass and underbrush evidenced a struggle. One shoe was missing; the other was found about 30 paces away.

An attempt to trace the telephone tipster was begun.

ALUMINUMWARE DRIVE LAUNCHED

Washington, July 21—(AP)—The government started a nationwide door-knocking campaign today to collect 20,000,000 pounds of aluminumware from the kitchen cupboards of America.

In urban center and cross-roads village more than a million volunteer workers set out to get pots and pans and any other articles such as old automobile parts and fittings, which may be smelted down and turned to defense uses.

Plans for prompt employment of all metal gathered up were so far advanced, officials said, that in a few months the little stew kettle in which Mrs. Jones boiled her husband's morning bacon would likely be part of an American-made plane dropping British bombs over Germany—or perhaps part of a tank in this country's own mechanized forces.

The aluminum campaign was organized jointly by the Office of

CHURCHILL MINISTRY IS REVISED

Alfred Duff Cooper is Dispatched to Far East as Special War Coordinator For the Cabinet, With Brendan Bracken Taking His Place as Minister of Information, in Third Shift Announced Since May 2

NUMBER OF OTHER IMPORTANT CHANGES

London July 21—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill revised his government today for a third time since May 2 dispatching Alfred Duff Cooper to the Far East as a special war coordinator for the cabinet and naming Brendan Bracken minister of information in his stead.

Bracken, who has been Churchill's parliamentary private secretary, is the fourth man since the start of the war to hold the information portfolio—a post often referred to as "the graveyard of ministerial reputations" because its occupants have been the targets of such sharp criticism.

The exact nature of Cooper's new assignment was not disclosed but it was understood his duties would be similar to those of Capt. Oliver Lyttleton government coordinator in the Middle East.

Cooper—51-year-old conservative who resigned as Prime Minister Chamberlain's first lord of the admiralty because he disapproved of his appeasement policy—was believed headed for Singapore, potential hot-spot if Japan should attempt an oft-predicted southward thrust.

Unlike Lyttleton, who is a special minister of state, Duff Cooper will not be a member of the inner war cabinet. He remains a member of the government however by virtue of his appointment as Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster in place of Lord Hankey.

"It is so grave, in my opinion, and in the opinion of all who are conversant with the facts, that the army should be maintained in effective strength and without diminution of its effective numbers in a complete state of readiness. Small as it is in comparison with other armies, it should not suffer any form of disorganization or disintegration."

MYSTERY VEILS GANG DEATH IN PHILADELPHIA

Cape May, N. J., July 21—(AP)—Mystery veiled the slaying of John Goodman, 40, Philadelphia gangster, today after his bound and battered body, wrapped in canvas, was found floating in Cape May harbor.

Jesse Souder, Cape May county prosecutor's aide, said questioning of the slain man's widow, Marie, into the early hours today failed to throw any light on the murder, but that a possible clue appeared in a bridge tender's report that an automobile was parked Friday night near where the body was found yesterday.

Mrs. Goodman told police that she last saw her husband when he left home Friday. She reported him missing the next morning.

Mrs. Goodman was questioned for about four hours before being taken to the morgue to identify the body. She collapsed and was taken to the county jail. Souder said, however, she was not being held but was given a night's lodging there as all hotels were filled.

Two men, whose identities police did not disclose, accompanied Mrs. Goodman from Philadelphia but were allowed to return there after questioning.

County Physician Warren Robbins said Goodman had been dead about three or four days.

Goodman's head had been battered and his hands and feet tied with sash cord. A concrete block was attached to the canvas.

Goodman was convicted of slaying Abraham Melincoff, who was shot and killed in 1908 in Philadelphia and served 10 years of a 15-year sentence.

Ambulance Completes Long "Mercy Mission"

Glassport, July 21—(AP)—A 2,100-mile "mercy mission" was completed last night with the return home in the Glassport fire department ambulance of a Glassport woman seriously injured in an automobile accident in Kansas while en route to a vacation in California.

The ambulance, manned by volunteer firemen and a nurse made the 2,100-trip to bring home Mrs. Jack Lees, wife of an Allegheny county detective.

Also returned to Glassport in the ambulance was Mrs. Lees' sister-in-law, Mrs. Violet Kalina, 36, who was injured in the same accident near Wamego, Kan.

LARGE NUMBER AUTO MISHAPS ARE REPORTED

Several Persons Are Injured and Number of Arrests Are Made by Officers of Local Substation As Result of Series of Accidents in Area

ONE VICTIM IS SERIOUS

Several persons were injured and a number of arrests made over the weekend by officers of the local substation of the Pennsylvania Motor Police as the result of a series of accidents in this section, it was reported today.

Most seriously injured was August Kopanske, 68, of Corydon, who is in the Bradford hospital with several fractured ribs, possible internal injuries and a possible fracture of the leg, received in an accident near his home about 8:30 o'clock Saturday night. His condition was said to be fair this morning.

According to Private S. R. Yurecic, who investigated, this accident occurred when Kopanske, driving a Dodge truck north on route 159, started to make a turn into his driveway when the rear of his truck was hit by a car operated by Kenneth R. Lamb, 25, of Duke Center, which had been following him. Both machines were badly damaged. Lamb was unhurt.

Three persons received minor injuries in an accident which occurred on U. S. route 6, about one-half mile west of Sheffield near the Crary Farms, when a Chevrolet coupe driven by Jeanetta Kelley, of 20 West Main street, Sheffield, left the road and overturned in avoiding another machine.

The driver, who was enroute to Warren, received bruises about the arms, legs and body and was treated by a Sheffield physician. Mrs. Norman Williams, of 24 West Main street, Sheffield, a passenger, received a cut on one knee and Johanna Williams, 4 years old, her daughter, received a cut on the knee and a bruised hip.

Corp. D. A. Gehr, of the motor police, said a car ahead of the Kelley machine pulled to the right side of the highway and as the Kelley car was about to pass, the other machine turned suddenly to the left. In a successful effort to avoid a collision, the Sheffield woman turned sharply to the right, going off the highway and overturning.

COMEDIAN LEW FIELDS IS DEAD

Beverly Hills, Calif., July 21—(AP)—Lew Fields, who with his boyhood chum, Joe Weber, travelled the nation's vaudeville circuits as a comedian for more than 60 years, died today of pneumonia.

Fields, who was 74, became ill Thursday, sank rapidly and was placed under an oxygen tent today in a futile attempt to save his life. His widow, Rose, his children and his comedian partner, Weber, were at the bedside.

Fields was born Lewis Maurice Fields. He and Weber began their famous comedy routine in New York in 1876 when they were little boys. Fields was only nine.

Their first appearances together were in juvenile Dutch sketches at small variety theatres. In 1885, they formed their own company.

SENTIMENT FOR SEIZURE BILL IS INCREASING

Measure to Authorize President to Take Over for Defense Purposes Certain Factories Needed for Preparedness Believed Near Passage

BARKLEY CONFIDENT

Washington, July 21.—(AP)—Administration leaders seeking prompt Senate approval of a bill which would permit government seizure of property needed for national defense predicted its passage today or tomorrow despite Republican objections and criticisms of Chairman Reynolds (D-N.C.) of the Senate military committee.

The committee approved the bill last week by a vote announced as unanimous, but yesterday Reynolds disclosed he had declined to sign the committee report because of newspapers and radio stations.

And a Republican leader of the Senate said members of his party, wary of the legislation's provisions, would want to know whether it would permit the government to take a man's shotgun, sack of flour or automobile.

Senators Barkley (D-Ky.), the majority leader, and Connally (D-Tex) asserted, however, that the bill would pass and Senator Bailey (D-N.C.) said this:

"Everyone must be willing to give up his rights now in the interest of national defense. By that I mean everyone. We can't be seizing individuals' property and permit strikes in defense industries to continue. We can take our rights back after the emergency is over."

The bill would authorize the president to take over for defense purposes up to June 30, 1943, any "military or naval equipment supplies or munition, or components thereof, or machinery, tools, or materials necessary for the manufacture of such equipment, supplies or munitions."

JIMMY STEWART'S DAD LAUNCHES "V" DRIVE

Indiana, Pa., July 21—(AP)—England's "V for Victory Day" proclaimed yesterday in the German-occupied countries of Europe will have its counterpart here daily until the war ends.

It's the idea of Alexander Stewart, father of James Stewart, movie actor now a U. S. soldier. Stewart has erected a 10-foot, aluminum painted "V" atop the Indiana county courthouse, 300 feet above the street. Floodlights illuminate the sign each night from 8 p. m. until midnight. Councidentally, the sign was first lighted Saturday night about the time when Prime Minister Winston Churchill was proclaiming "V" day in a London broadcast.

CONSIDERS SITUATION CRITICAL

Declaring That America is In "Infinitely Greater" Danger Than a Year Ago, Chief Executive Asks Congress to Lift Limitation Placed On Enlistments of Selectees, Guardsmen and Reservists

STRONG OPPOSITION EXPECTED FOR MOVE

Washington, July 21—(AP)—Declaring that America was in "infinitely greater" danger than a year ago, President Roosevelt asked congress today to authorize extension of the one-year period of active service in the army of selectees, National Guardsmen and Reservists.

Unless the extension is granted, Mr. Roosevelt said, the nation will be taking a grave national risk and disintegrating of the army will be under way within two months.

Responsibility for maintaining the efficiency of that army, the chief executive said in a message to congress, rests solely with the legislators.

Mr. Roosevelt dramatized his request by trying an innovation. He transcribed the message on records so that his words might be broadcast to the nation and the world.

The president emphasized that conditions had changed since a 12-month limitation was placed a year ago on the service of selectees, Guardsmen and Reservists.

"Today it is imperative, he said, "that I should officially report to the congress what the congress undoubtedly knows: That the international situation is not less grave but is far more grave than it was a year ago.

The objective, he declared is the all important issue.

The chief executive said he was confident men in the ranks realized better than the public the "disastrous effect" which would result from permitting the present army to melt away and set back the training and expansion program at least six months.

Noting that last year's selective service legislation definitely provided that the one year training program could be extended by congressional action if a national danger later existed, the president added:

"I do not believe that the danger

BRADFORD MAN DIES IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

Olean, N. Y., July 21—(AP)—An automobile hurtled out of control from a highway and crashed through a cable guard fence last night, killing a Bradford, Pa., man and injuring two others, both seriously.

The dead man was John R. Gifford, 24.

The injured, taken to an Olean hospital, were John Williams, 20, and Paul Cannon, 29, both of Bradford. Hospital authorities said Williams may have suffered a fractured neck.

The accident occurred at Vandalia, N. Y., 12 miles north of Bradford.

Police said the driver of the car apparently lost control when the car skidded in gravel on a highway shoulder while rounding a curve.

MRS. PINCHOT NAMED

Washington, July 21—(AP)—Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the former governor of Pennsylvania, and William C. Bullitt, former U. S. ambassador to France, have been named by President Roosevelt to the volunteer participation committee with the office of civilian defense.

PROCLAMATION!

To The Citizens of Warren:

Warren County's campaign to raise $5800.00 as its share of the national goal of the United Service Organizations is now on. All loyal and patriotic citizens will want to participate in this worthy cause.

The United Service Organizations, a combination of six outstanding national service groups, covering every race, color and creed, has a program so worthy and so well-known as to require no further comment from me.

Warren County's quota to provide decent recreation and spiritual guidance for the boys in Camps must be met. It is hard to imagine how we could make a better investment for the future of these boys who have given up job and home to provide defense and security for the rest of us. There will be no house to house canvass unless the quota cannot be reached through spontaneous contributions. Make and mail your check to H. B. Meacham, Treasurer of U. S. O.—and do it now.

Sincerely,

R. W. STEBER, Burgess.

SUPREME COURT JUSTICE TO BE HONORED HERE

Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson, native son of Warren county, will be honored at a testimonial dinner by present and former members of the Warren County Bar Association next Monday evening at the Conewango Club here, it was announced today.

Born in Spring Creek township, Mr. Jackson gained prominence while a resident of Jamestown, N. Y., where he was a practicing attorney for many years.

He holds the distinction of being the only person to gain a place on the highest court of the United States.

Justice Jackson

Justice Jackson rose to a high position in New York state legal affairs before being called to Washington by President Roosevelt to become United States solicitor general. Subsequently he was named attorney general and finally was elevated to the United States Supreme Court.

He has a large number of friends in Warren and vicinity who have watched with pleasure his steady rise in governmental affairs.

Because of the limited facilities available, the dinner next Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock will be confined to present and former members of the local bar association and a small number of specially invited guests, it was stated today.

Aluminum Show Planned at Library Theatre Here on Saturday Morning

With plans completed for the national defense aluminum collection campaign in Warren county this week, announcement was made today that "youngsters" from 6 to 60 are invited to attend a free moving picture show at the Library theatre here next Saturday morning at ten o'clock.

The only cost of admission will be some aluminum utensil, which can be used by the defense council.

Manager George C. Sarvis announced over the week-end that arrangements have been made to bring a good program of movies here for the event and everyone is invited to attend and thus help this worthy cause.

The Warren county aluminum collection campaign is to be staged from July 24 to 27, with the intensive portion of the drive on Friday and Saturday.

Work was started this morning on the erection of a bin at the north end of the Hickory street bridge between the soldiers' and sailors' monument and the curb. All residents of the borough are asked to toss their discarded aluminum ware into this bin.

Elsewhere in this issue is a list of places in the county where aluminum may be deposited.

The Warren county aluminum collection committee announced today that this county, to contribute its full share toward the national goal of 20,000,000 pounds of scrap aluminum, should donate at least six or seven thousand pounds in the campaign.

To give local housewives and business places an added incentive to donate every possible aluminum item that they can spare without making replacements, it was revealed that the mayor of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., has issued a challenge to all cities and communities that Mt. Vernon will achieve the highest per family or per capita collection in the United States.

The local committee today urged that every citizen get behind the campaign to make it a success.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Joan Leslie is an unusual 16-year-old. She doesn't want to be 18, because she's having "so much fun" being her age she wouldn't want to miss it.

Of course she's unusual, too, in that she's just played leading lady to Gary Cooper (more than twice her age) in "Sergeant York" and has done a slightly terrific job of it, to quote the more conservative of her studio admirers. But all that is professional stuff, not too pertinent to a red-headed youngster with braces on her lower teeth and a cute giggle and a turned-up nose and faint freckles.

The real Sergeant York, when talking about the movie to be made of his life, suggested that he didn't want "Gracie," now his wife, played by one of these cigaret-smoking, liquor-drinking movie actresses. No better answer to his requirement, in that respect, could have been found than Joan, whose big off-screen moments in recent weeks were the two Loyola proms she attended with a brother of a girl friend—"the only dates I've had in Hollywood," she says.

HOW did Mama and Papa Brodell rear a sweet child like this Joan Leslie? They did it on the road, in night clubs, in vaudeville.

John Brodell was an accountant in Detroit when depression struck and the family hit on the stage as the way out. Joan was three, Betty and Mary slightly older. They junketed in their old car, from engagement to engagement, and the girls went to schools in towns when they settled down long enough, otherwise Mama was teacher.

Joan did imitations and sang and danced. Joan attracted a movie talent scout who sent her to M-G-M on contract. She had bits in "Susan and God" and other movies, but was released. She went back to the act until the whole family returned. Joan and her imitations played all the casting offices, entertaining the casters but bringing few jobs until Warner's signed her.

Gee, was she thrilled! And gee, it was wonderful to play in pictures with Eddie Albert. She was nervous about her first kissing scene, but Eddie told her it was just a job and why not get it over with? Kissing Gary Cooper—and Gary so famous and important—almost overwhelmed her. Gee!

EARLY in her career out here a local booster society picked her as Southern California's Sun Goddess—1941 equivalent of the Oomph Girl business that boosted Ann Sheridan. The Sun Goddess, her duties officially ended, admits that she has to be extremely careful of sunburn.

She's just gone into the 10th grade at studio school, where she shines in geography ("I learned that by traveling,") and is investigating the social sciences. Mary is also under contract, but Betty prefers radio singing. The Brodells live in a little house near the studio, and the father again is an accountant, while the mother manages household and careers.

Joan's big aversion, at the moment, is red nail-polish, and her small worry is those dental braces. "They were supposed to be removable but I think the dentist crossed us up—they won't come off."

Even at 16, Joan is a calorie-counter. "I'm watching them now so the studio won't make me watch them later."

Four Warren County Men Arrested In Liquor Raids Staged on Sunday

Raids conducted at three places in the county Sunday resulted in the arrest of four men who will face charges of liquor law violations before justices of the peace here and in Sheffield sometime this afternoon.

The arrests were made by agents of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, agents of the Federal Alcohol Tax Unit and Police Chief Sanford Secor, of Sheffield. The men were in the county jail pending their arraignment.

Those being held are Frank Knaus, of Sheffield; John Smith, of Tiona; Sheldon Paul, of Weldbank, and LeGrand Russell, of Pine Grove township.

First arrested was Frank Knaus, who was taken into custody at his residence in Barnes street, Sheffield. He is charged with sale of liquor and beer without a license.

The residence of Smith was raided following the arrest of Knaus. At his place were found a 75-gallon still, 24 pint bottles of moonshine, six quart bottles of moonshine, five mash barrels, one 30-gallon keg filled with moonshine and one 30-gallon keg containing about two gallons of moonshine, the officials said. He is charged with illegal manufacture, possession, sale and transportation of illicit liquor.

While making the raid, officers saw a car drive away from the Smith residence. They stopped and searched the machine and found it contained alleged moonshine liquor. The driver, Paul, was arrested and charged with illegal possession and transportation of liquor.

The third raid occurred at Stumble Inn, on the Warren-Jamestown road between Russell and Akeley. LeGrand Russell, who was on the premises at the time, was arrested on charges of illegal sale of liquor.

At all of the places, the liquor found was destroyed, as well as all equipment used in its sale. At the Smith residence in Tiona, officials confiscated automobiles owned by Smith and Paul.

The raids were conducted under the supervision of C. W. Newell, of the Erie office of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, following several months of investigation, it was stated today. Agents said wheels for the investigation were set in motion by District Attorney J. H. Goldstein as a result of numerous complaints of illicit liquor traffic in the county. The investigations have been conducted under the direction of District Attorney Goldstein, it was stated.

All of the places sold liquor to agents of the state and federal agencies, it was stated today by an agent of the board.

The officer said he is investigating to learn the name of the driver of the machine who caused the accident and that he will be charged with improper turning on the highway.

Jack Bruńecz, 19 years old, of R. D. 1, Sugar Grove, was treated at the Warren General Hospital Saturday afternoon for bruises received when he was struck on the left leg by a car as he was walking along U. S. route 6, four miles west of Pittsfield, leading a horse, according to Private L. G. Forbes, of the motor police. The youth was discharged after treatment.

Private Fobes said the young man and his brother, Paul, were walking along the road, both leading horses, when a 1936 Chevrolet coach, driven by John Zanias, 43, of Massachusetts avenue, Buffalo, N. Y., came along in the same direction and struck Brunecz on the left leg. The officer, who was patroling in the vicinity at the time, brought the youth to the hospital and later returned him to his home after it was found that no bones were broken.

Two arrests resulted from an accident which occurred on the Pleasantville-Neilltown road in Venango county early Saturday morning when a 1935 Ford sedan owned by Merle Albaugh, of Tidioute, and operated by Merle Donald Anthony, 25, of R. D. 2, Tidioute, was completely wrecked when it skidded from the wet pavement, struck an embankment and rolled over three times. Anthony, who was alone in the car, was unhurt.

According to Private B. A. Reeder, Anthony was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Joseph Lodge at Tidioute on a charge of driving without a license, while Albaugh was arraigned on a charge of permitting the violation of the vehicle code. Both paid fines, the officer reported.

A 1933 Pontiac coach was damaged about the front end to the extent of about $65 in an accident which occurred in Conewango avenue extension about 6:35 p. m., Saturday when it struck an electric company pole, according to Private Joseph Ruffa. It was reported that William F. Brooker, 26, of 116 Parker street, who was driving the car, was going north when he suddenly decided to turn into a driveway. The machine went off the road, striking the pole and breaking it. Brooker was not hurt.

Miss Ann Wokulick, aged 24, of 1731 West 32nd street, Cleveland, O., was treated for mild shock at the Warren General Hospital about five o'clock Sunday afternoon, after the car in which she was riding left the highway and overturned. The driver, Alex Wokulick, who is her brother and an attendant at the Warren State Hospital, received lacerations on one hand. No report of the happening was made to the local Pennsylvania Motor Police.

Sally Douglas, 48, of 1400 Pennsylvania avenue, east, was admitted to the local hospital for treatment of a lacerated forehead and bruises received in an automobile accident which occurred about eleven o'clock Sunday night on the Kiantone road just over the New York state line. Gust Sandstrom, 75, of 104½ Main avenue, in the same accident, escaped injury, according to hospital reports.

Local Driver Second In Langhorne Race

Langhorne, Pa., July 21—(AP)—In a race marred by seven crackups, Roy Hall, 22-year-old Atlanta, Ga., professional driver, won the 200-mile stock car race at the Langhorne Speedway yesterday.

Hall finished about a mile ahead of R. W. Lummis of Warren, Pa., who started in 28th position in a field of 40. Hall's time was two hours, 55 minutes and 25.46 seconds. Harold Brokhoff, of Pottsville, Pa., finished fifth.

Injuries to drivers involved in the accidents were minor.

Rural Residents of County Have Opportunity to Give Aluminum for National Defense in Big Campaign

Rural residents of Warren county will join in the nation-wide collection of scrap aluminum during the period July 21 to 29. The national goal is 20,000,000 pounds.

Housewives are urged to donate all aluminum utensils which no longer are of use to them, but they are cautioned not to give more than they can get along without, in order to avoid a secondary shortage in other metals, and they also are cautioned not to give heavy or bulky items with minor aluminum parts. It is better to strip the aluminum from these articles and donate that.

Leo Johnson, Youngsville, chairman of the Warren county agricultural defense committee in charge of the aluminum collection explains that no individual will profit from the collection of the aluminum. The effort is in the interest of nation defense and the scrap aluminum will be used only for that purpose.

The committee has designated convenient points where rural residents may leave their donations of scrap aluminum on their regular marketing or shopping trips during the period of July 21-29. In the communities where collection center are grange halls, the date for collection will be Friday and Saturday, July 25 and 26 between 8 a. m. and 4 p. m., daylight saving time. Each family is urged to donate any scrap aluminum and leave it at one of the following places:

Grange Halls—Pleasant, Scandia, Lander, Chandlers Valley, Columbus (town hall), Grand Valley (Odd Fellows building), Corydon.

Fire Departments — Russell, Sugar Grove, Tidioute, Clarendon, Youngsville, Sheffield.

HEARTBREAK HONEYMOON

YESTERDAY: Henry Pell is completely at sea. He is just back from Chicago, where his dear friend Marie Mason followed him to persuade him to return at once to New York and get his bid in for a big radio job. Henry returned to find the radio job gone—worse, to find Luella Pell, his young wife, also gone. He just has told the news to Alma, who got the job he had hoped for.

Chapter 22

Bitter Praise

"NO! Not really?" Alma gasped —and Henry suddenly realized that it was the first time he had ever seen her show surprise.

"Here's my elevator," he said. "I've got to be going. So long!"

From Rockefeller Center Henry went over to the realty office. There he spent the next two hours going over the many notes he had made in Chicago, explaining this, and explaining that. He was glad, in a way, that he didn't have to face the situation regarding Luella just now, glad of an excuse for postponing it a little longer.

"Good work!" said his superior, Mr. Smithers.

"Thanks," said Henry.

Mr. Smithers said: "I don't mind telling you, Pell, that we were a bit worried about you."

"In what way?"

"We were beginning to feel that we'd made a mistake in bringing you up to New York," Mr. Smithers continued. "The way you seemed for a time to lose your sense of balance—that woman in radio, those songs, all that sort of nonsense." He rubbed his hands together and beamed. . . . "I'm glad we were wrong about you—glad to find that you are still capable of doing good work in the realty business."

"Yes, sir," rather listlessly.

"Now, trot along home, and get some rest," said Mr. Smithers. "We'll go into matters more thoroughly Monday morning." He patted Henry's shoulder. "And my best regards to that charming little wife of yours. . . . I've never forgotten that grand dinner she cooked for the Missus and me shortly after you got settled. Remember?"

"Yes, sir," said Henry. "I remember." Luella, all excited over entertaining his boss, but glad she had "practiced" on Tommy and Marie first. "She enjoyed having you and Mrs. Smithers as guests."

"We must get together more frequently," said Mr. Smithers, again beaming. "Socially, I mean. Mrs. Smithers often speaks of Mrs. Pell. 'Arnold,' she says to me, 'Young Mrs. Henry Pell is just the sort of wife a man needs to help him on toward success.' She's right, too, Pell—very right, indeed."

"Yes, sir," said Henry. "Thank you."

Why must everyone talk to him about Luella? First Rector. . . . Then Alma Latham. . . . And now Mr. Smithers.

"Give Mrs. Pell our best regards, my boy," Smithers was now saying. "We'll have a get-together real soon."

"Our regards to Mrs. Smithers," Henry said. "I'll see you bright and early Monday morning."

Henry made his escape, for he felt that that was just what it was. He had felt like a prisoner, being backed in a corner and tortured. Luella this and Luella that. . . . Oh, God—

His thoughts were interrupted by an office boy calling to him that he was wanted on the telephone.

"I said I'd try to catch you before you reached the elevator," he said.

"Thanks, Bill," Henry said.

He went back inside and picked up the receiver. It was Tommy McIntyre calling him.

"I hoped I'd be able to find you," he said. "How about lunch?"

Henry hesitated. He was in no mood for lunching with anyone. And he didn't feel like talking, especially to a man who had grown much too fond of his wife. And yet he dreaded being alone—dreaded going up to that lonely, empty apartment.

"Okay!" he said finally. "Where shall I meet you?"

"At Jack Dempsey's place," said Tommy. "On Broadway."

"Right! What time?"

"As soon as you can make it."

"I'll be right over. It's only a few blocks."

Jolt From Tommy

THE air was cool and bracing when Henry stepped out into the street a moment later. It was the sort of day that should make a man glad to be alive. But it didn't make him feel that way—not at all. He was horribly depressed. He hated the thought of spending the week-end in the apartment which Luella had taken so much pride in turning into a real home.

A real home? Had it really ever been that? And whose fault was it? His? . . . Luella's? Both to blame, probably. Thinking about it did no good, that was certain. He strode off toward Broadway, trying to keep his chin up and his shoulders back. It was something of a comfort to see Tommy McIntyre's familiar face, when he stepped up to the bar.

"Old-fashioned," said Henry. "And thanks."

"I've got a table over in a quiet corner," Tommy informed. "As soon as we've had our drinks here at the bar, we'll hide ourselves there, and talk. . . . I've got a lot to say."

The drinks warmed their blood —made Henry feel a little less low. Then they went to the table. Ordered lunch. Henry still didn't feel much like talking, and wondered somewhat vaguely what it was Tommy wanted to talk about. Then, all at once, Henry knew that he would have to tell someone what had happened or go crazy.

"I didn't get the radio job," he announced.

"Say, that's too bad!" Tommy exclaimed.

"Alma Latham got it."

"I was afraid of that. Women in business. Gosh, they make me ill."

"Me, too," said Henry. He waited a moment, and then said. "Luella's gone."

"Yes," said Tommy, "I know."

Henry dropped his fork, stared at the man opposite. "You know?" he said inanely. "You mean she—"

"I mean," said Tommy, "that I telephoned Luella to ask her to have lunch with me, and she was in tears."

"Yes, go on."

"She said she was leaving New York. I rushed up to see what was wrong, and found her with her trunk and suitcase all packed."

"Did she give any reason for her actions?" Henry wanted to know, thinking at the same time how odd it was that he, the husband, should be getting information about his own wife from another man. "I can't quite grasp it—not yet, anyway."

"Yes," said Tommy, "she told me exactly why she was leaving. She had heard that Marie was in Chicago while you were there."

"Oh!"

"That's explanation enough, isn't it—for her leaving, I mean?"

"Perhaps. . . . But who told her about Marie being in Chicago?"

"I did."

"Why, you—you—" Henry half rose from his chair, his eyes angry, his fists clenched.

"But not intentionally," said Tommy. "So keep your shirt on."

"Okay!" Henry sank back into his chair. "Go on. . . . I want the whole story."

"I called up Marie," Tommy said, "and her maid told me she was in Chicago. . . . I let it out in a talk with Luella, not even knowing that you, too, were in Chicago. Naturally, Luella put two and two together, and suspected the worst. After all, Henry, you have been seeing a lot of Marie."

"Of course, I have," said Henry. "And you've been seeing a lot of Luella, also. That doesn't mean I had to pack up and leave."

"Yes, I've been seeing a lot of Luella," said Tommy quietly. "I've fallen in love with her. You might as well get it straight from the shoulder."

Divorce

"GOOD Lord, man, this is carrying the modern stuff a bit too far!" Henry exclaimed. "You mean to sit there and tell me to my face that you love my wife?"

"I do."

"Well, I'll be—!"

"What's more, Henry, I'll marry her if she'll have me after the divorce."

"Who said anything about divorce?"

"Luella did."

"You mean she talked that over with you, too?"

Tommy nodded. "She'll go on to Florida to establish a ninety day residence, just as soon as she has stopped off in the old hometown for a few days to look after some business matters."

Henry went limp. He seemed to slump down low in his chair.

"She certainly did make a confidant of you, all right," he said.

"She did," Tommy admitted. "She had to have someone to talk to, and I happened to be handy." He watched Henry, feeling sorry for him one moment, and then almost despising him the next, for what he had done to Luella. "I went down to Pennsylvania Station with her, helped her get her ticket, and—"

"And encouraged her to leave me, I suppose," said Henry angrily.

"No, not that. Anyway, you certainly haven't encouraged her not to leave you."

"How do you know?"

"Keeping my eyes and ears open, that's all," said Tommy. "Luella isn't the type of girl to adapt herself to a new way of living over-night, and you never took the trouble or the time to help her adjust herself to things up here."

"Luella knew perfectly well what she had to face when she married me," said Henry.

"You raced ahead like something wild," Tommy continued, "and Luella got scared, trying to keep up with you when her heart wasn't really in it."

"There!" said Henry. "You've put your finger on the real trouble. Luella's heart should have been in the business of keeping up with me. It was her job, as my wife—her job to encourage me, and not feel sorry for herself."

"All right, but the truth of the matter is that Luella's gone, and I don't think she'll be coming back."

"Why?"

"I've told her she can have my cottage in Florida," said Tommy. "I've had little time to use it myself. It's completely furnished, and Luella can live very reasonably while waiting for her divorce."

"And she said she'd accept your offer?"

"She did. She'll probably be settled in the cottage within the next week or two."

Not all the pleasure of bridge is in playing it. Hands are interesting in themselves. The real bridge lover gets a thrill from seeing a colorful, once-in-a-lifetime freak actually dealt.

Here is a hand sent me by Sam Katz of Newark which hangs up some sort of record.

East did not guess the killing lead of a diamond, but opened his partner's suit. Katz, sitting North, ruffed and then cashed the king and ace of clubs. The king of spades was laid down. East did not cover, and the king held, dummy discarding a diamond.

When the queen of spades was led, East covered and dummy trumped. Another trump lead put North in again to cash the rest of the spades, on which dummy shed all the diamonds, so that South in the end ruffed out North's deuce of diamonds.

One often sees two or three losers discarded, preparatory to ruffing losers in the same suit held by the partner's hand. But have you ever before seen seven losers discarded from dummy, so that dummy can ruff just one loser in declarer's hand? I never have, and I think that this situation is just as rare as a hand of thirteen spades.

Today's Story

Be careful about wearing an opera hat in Salt Lake City. There's a law against it.

Forty years ago it cost 30 cents a mile to run an automobile. A modern car can be run for less than 3 cents a mile.

Improper Turning at Intersection And Failure to Give Signals Are Cause of Many Accidents in Area

Improper turning at intersections and failure to give proper signals on starting, stopping and turning has resulted in a great increase in automobile accidents in this section, it was stated today by Corp. D. A. Gehr, in charge of the local substation of the Pennsylvania Motor Police.

He stated that a drive is to be conducted throughout the district to correct this situation and warned motorists that they must obey the motor code regulations on the highways.

Regarding the turning at intersections, Section 1011, of the Pennsylvania Motor Code, was quoted as follows by Corp. Gehr:

"(a) The drives of a vehicle intending to turn to the right at an intersection shall approach such intersection in the lane for traffic nearest to the right hand side of the highway, and, in turning, shall keep as close as practicable to the right hand curb or edge of the highway.

"(b) The driver of a vehicle intending to turn to the left shall approach such intersection in the lane for traffic to the right and nearest to the center line of the highway, and, in turning, shall pass to the left of the center of the intersection, keeping as close as shall be practicable to the center of the intersection, except that, upon streets laned for traffic and upon one-way streets, a left turn shall be made from the left lane of traffic in the direction in which the vehicle is proceeding.

"(c) For the purpose of this section, the center of the intersection shall mean the meeting point of the medial lines of the highways intersecting one another, except when it is occupied by a monument, grass plot, or any permanent structure, other than a traffic control device."

It was pointed out that the penalty for violation of this regulation is a $10 fine and costs or not more than five days in jail.

Regarding starting, stopping and turning, Section 1012, of the motor code, was quoted by the officer as follows:

"(a) The driver of any vehicle upon a highway, before starting, stopping or turning from a direct line, shall first see that such movement can be made in safety, and, if any pedestrian may be affected by such movement, shall give a clearly audible signal by sounding the horn, and whenever the operation of any vehicle approaching or following may be affected by such movement, shall give a signal as required in this section, plainly visible to the driver of such other vehicle, of the intention to make such movement.

"(b) and (c) The signal herein required shall be given by means of the hand or arm in the manner herein specified. Whenever the signal is given by means of the hand and arm, the driver shall indicate his intention to start, stop or turn, by extending the hand and arm horizontally from and beyond the left side of the vehicle, or, if he is driving a closed vehicle, by his hand and arm in such a way as to be visible through the window in the rear of the vehicle."

If these regulations are observed, the officer stated, there will be a great decrease in the number of accidents from these causes.

WARREN COUNTY FARM TOUR TO BE HELD THURS.

The annual Warren county farmers' auto tour will be held on Thursday of this week, leaving the court house here at 8:30 a. m., Eastern Standard Time, it was announced today by O. C. Tritt, county agent. This year's tour, he stated, will go to Jefferson county.

The tour will follow Route 6 to Sheffield and 948 from Sheffield to Chaffee, turning right on 68 to just beyond Marienville and then following route 899 and 36 into Brookville. Those going from the western part of the county could go by the way of Tionesta and Cooks Forest and meet the tour where route 36 and 899 intersect, it is stated. Anyone doing this should plan to be at this point at 9:30.

Stops for the tour include the George Deiner farm at Brookville, where 75 head of dairy cows, 60 acres of improved pasture and a modern milk plant will be inspected; Guy Schucker's farm on route 322, pure-bred Holstein and Guernsey cattle, capons and a good practical farm milk house; Victor Verbeck, Harry Cooper and Everett Swineford farms near Reynoldsville.

Many interesting things are to be seen at all of these stops, Mr. Tritt stated, and it is expected that there will be a large turnout for this annual tour.

DIRECT RELIEF LOAD IN COUNTY SHOWS DECLINE

Direct relief rolls in Warren county continued to show a downward trend during the week ending July 12, when a net decrease of 10 cases was shown, according to information received from the state department of public assistance.

Most significant in the decline was the fact that not a case was opened during the week.

The decrease brought the total number of cases in the county down to 90, representing 142 persons. Cost of relief in the county during the week was $276.54.

In the state there was a net decline of 2,662 cases during the week, bringing the total to a record low of 100,095 cases, representing 211,234 persons. Cost of relief in the state during the week was $505,327.19.

Following are the figures for some nearby counties:

Clarion: Cases, 261; decrease, 15; cost, $1,126.31.

Crawford: Cases, 318; decrease, 9; cost, $1,082.26.

Elk: Cases, 122; decrease, 4; cost, $498.98.

Erie: Cases, 654; decrease, 16; cost, $2,529.27.

Forest: Cases, 29; decrease, 4; cost, $95.27.

McKean: Cases, 236; decrease, 17; cost, $841.66.

Venango: Cases, 440; decrease, 5; cost, $1,684.76.

Find of a Lifetime

"In two special instances we used San-Cura Ointment and discovered it to be the 'find of a lifetime'," writes Mrs. E. F. Linke, 1514 W. 55th Street, Chicago. THE EFFECTIVE PHASE BEGINS

(Written for the Times-Mirror and NEA by Willis Thornton)

There have been three phases of the defense program since the President called for the building of effective defense in May, 1940.

From May until that autumn there was a great scurrying to pass appropriations, to let contracts, to draw plans; everything was on paper. It had to be so.

From last autumn through this spring and summer, there was a period of "tooling up"—of providing the specialized tools necessary before production could begin, of building factories from the ground up.

Now at last we enter a third phase—when production in effective volume is beginning to roll. Now we begin to get the stuff, and from now on the stream of that production must continue to rise in heightening crescendo until the the world comes again, as it will some day, to peace.

Watch the needle flicker across the face of the arms production gauge!

Now it reads "More than 1500 new-model rifles and sub-machine guns are coming off the production lines every day."

Now "The thousandth Hudson bomber is already on its way to England."

Now "Shells will begin to roll off the production line of the Army's $20,000,000 munitions plant at Milan, Tenn., on Aug. 10. Six months ago this plant was a hayfield."

Now "Every naval ship under construction is far ahead of schedule."

Now "Three tank plants are simultaneously getting into actual production on medium tanks, the type the Army has needed most urgently, since light tanks are already in quantity production, and are good enough to have been most helpful to the British in Libya."

Each of these is only a small flick of the needle, but together they show how the defense effort is entering the productive stage. It has been a weary strain to wait month after month, plugging ever harder at the job, with so little apparent result. Now the results begin to come.

With actual tangible guns, tanks, and planes in sight, it should be easier to redouble the effort that will keep them coming in an increasing stream. In that lies the best hope for the American future.

TUNING IN ON TERMITES

We don't think we've been unduly friendly toward termites, especially the Fifth Column kind.

But after all, there was this to be said for termites: they were the last stand of privacy in a goldfish-globe world. Termites worked silently and privately; nobody ever bothered a termite, for the simple reason that nobody ever knew they were there until it was too late. They were able to enjoy their frugal repast of door-sill salad unmolested.

Now a super-microphone has been invented which makes the miniscule munchings of the termites sound louder than a man eating celery in a railway station restaurant. The termite's loss will be man's gain, but it is disconcerting to think that no living creature is any longer safe from the keen ear of the microphone—that even the termites have been tuned in.

The sympathy of a host of friends in North Warren and Warren is extended the family of William Songer, young victim of Friday's fatal highway accident, the first of its kind in the county this year.

With mercury in thermometers down around the forties, weather such as that experienced this morning serves to remind that it won't be long until the frost will be on the pumpkins.

From the number of petitions on file at the court house it would seem that the primary campaign will be unusually quiet.

Motorists who have not attended to that very important task are reminded that but six days remain in which to have that car inspected.

That subway job on Hickory street is giving motorists the "jumps."

• EDSON'S WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON
Times-Mirror Washington Correspondent

Washington, July 21—When the Navy's big armed transport, West Point, steams back into New York harbor with some 350 American consular agents and their families, all of whom were "swapped" with Italy and Germany for their 460 consular agents and families stationed in the United States, it will mark the beginning of a new period of diplomatic listening-in on the European war. Vice-versa, it will mark the beginning of a new period of espionage or observation of our affairs by Germans and Italians.

Embassies, the high ranking ambassadors and ministers and their staffs, are not affected by the swap, but in 14 of the 25 countries of Europe, the United States will be without direct consular representation in Germany, Italy, Norway, Denmark, Albania, Belgium, Netherlands, Luxembourg, Yugoslavia, Greece, Latvia, Esthonia, Lithuania and the German-occupied portion of France.

In the German occupied part of Europe, where all the 350 returning Americans come from, the United States government will be left with only six strategic listening posts—Berlin, Rome, Budapest, Sofia, Bucharest and Helsinki. In all these capitals the United States has embassies or legations with diplomatic officers rather than just consular officers, and under the terms of the mutual expulsion of each others' lesser fry officials, the embassy staffs are permitted to function at the same old marble stands.

The United States still isn't at war with anyone, and Germany and Italy aren't officially mad at us. It's a good bit like divorce, where the parties go on dating each other though they're not married any more, and they simply haven't any permanent use for each other.

Custody of the children in this queer setup is left principally in the hands of the ranking half dozen diplomats. William Phillips of Massachusetts is ambassador in Rome with a staff of 20. We have no ambassador in Berlin, the embassy there being in charge of Leland B. Morris of Pennsylvania, who ranks as a counselor and was actually consul general. His staff numbers 30. At both Rome and Berlin—at all embassies, in fact—are military and naval attaches, service officers who can kibitz on the war from the capital fronts.

Four diplomats with the rank of envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary occupy the other listening posts in the German area: George H. Earle of Pennsylvania, at Sofia, Bulgaria; H. F. Arthur Schoenfeld of Washington, D. C., at Helsinki, Finland; Herbert C. Pell of Rhode Island at Budapest, Hungary; and Franklin M. Gunther of Florida at Bucharest, Rumania.

Gone are the other United States diplomatic and consular staffs in the Balkans, the low countries and the Balkan republics, although Ambassador Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., of Pennsylvania stationed in London, is in contact with the refugee governments of Belgium, Poland, Norway and the Netherlands.

Similararly, the consulate staff in Paris, which has been under Robert D. Murphy of Wisconsin, is homeward bound on the West Point, leaving the United States without observers in occupied France. At Vichy is Admiral William D. Leahy as ambassador, with a staff of 15. This is perhaps the touchiest assignment in the whole diplomatic corps for it involves the tough job of doing everything possible to keep France from going for all-out co-operation with the axis.

Theoretically, business as usual for the diplomatic and consular staffs goes on in the five neutral countries of Europe; Sweden, Switzerland, Spain, Portugal and Eire, and all of them are important, too for these are the countries that must be kept neutral, or at least not too pro-axis.

Machado de Assis Was Noted Brazilian Author

COMMERCIALISM is not the only basis of Pan-American friendship. A knowledge of the culture of South America is also necessary for a true understanding.

One of the great writers of Brazil, Joaquim Maria Machado de Assis, was recently honored philatelically by his government in the 1940 stamp above commemorating the 100th anniversary of his birth.

Critics have called Machado de Assis Brazil's foremost novelist. He was born in 1839, wrote poems and plays as well as novels.

Strangely enough, literary pursuits were only a sideline with Machado de Assis. He worked as a typographer in his early youth, later entered politics. He remained in government for the rest of his life, wrote only in his spare time.

His early poems and plays attracted no attention. He started writing novels when he was in his forties and became famous. His best work is "Memorias Postumas de Braz Cubas," written in 1881. It describes life in Rio de Janeiro during the latter part of the 19th century. Machado de Assis died in 1908.

Interesting Items Taken From the Warren Evening Times

In 1921

There was an informal meeting held last night of those interested in the establishment of a playground on the tract of land recently donated by Mr. Beaty to the city. It was discovered that over $2,500 had already been pledged in a brief campaign.

Those who complained of the high cost of living should be satisfied with the present price of potatoes. Tubers are retailing for $5.25 the barrel, which is in marked contrast with the price at this season two years ago when the price was $15 the barrel.

The Struthers-Wells emphasized last evening that they are out to win the second half of the City Baseball League season when the Y. M. C. A. nine was defeated by the Iron Workers by a score of 11 to 2. Baldensperger opposed Wolfe on the mound, and the former had the situation well in hand.

The Warren Street Railway Company will institute a ten-minute service and run three cars on the Conewango lines during the races at the Fair Grounds next week.

Rev. Gomer B. Matthews, rector of Trinity Memorial church, was the speaker at the meeting of the Rotary Club today, speaking on India.

In 1931

The Pennsylvania "Blue Laws" of 1790 were put into effect last Sunday in Warren county for the first time in a number of years when members of two baseball teams were placed under arrest on complaint of Burgess L. C. Barnes, of Clarendon. Eighteen men, from 15 to 45 years old, were arrested.

The Warren County Motor Club is sending one of its board members, W. W. Muir, and its manager, L. N. Schuler, to Harrisburg tomorrow for the ceremonies inaugurating the 20,000 mile rural road program of Governor Pinchot. Mr. Muir will be accompanied by his son, Hollis Muir, and Joe Eishop.

The attractive new picnic grounds and bathing beach, known as "The Maples" on the Allegheny river adjoining the Outing Club property, is proving a popular recreation resort for hundreds of people from Warren and vicinity.

Warren county will be represented by Sheriff H. H. Jefferson at the annual convention of the Sheriff's Association, which will be in session in Erie, July 27, 28 and 29.

The Starbrick community picnic, sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association, will be held at the home of G. R. McIntosh tomorrow.

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—When Mayor Marvin Kline of Minneapolis appealed to J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, to find an FBI man for a police chief, Kline was joining a parade that is making the FBI one of the most unusual employment bureaus in the land.

When Hoover informed Kline that he had such a man in his own front yard, Hoover was fulfilling his little-known function as No. 1 placement man for chiefs of police in the United States.

FBI National Police Academy graduates and men from the FBI rolls now are chiefs of police in 82 cities.

After explaining to Mayor Kline that all FBI agents worthy of conducting the Minneapolis police department were needed in national defense, Hoover told the mayor of Edward B. Hansen, a veteran of the Duluth police force, who not only had worked himself up to chief in Duluth, but had also acquitted himself with honors in the FBI's "West Point of law enforcement."

Mayor Kline grabbed his man.

A Daily Routine

THIS has been going on for months. There isn't a day passes that the FBI director doesn't have from one to six requests for a recommendation for police chief. There isn't a day that he doesn't answer these requests, generally suggesting some man who graduated from the police academy. Out of nearly 600 graduates of the NPA, 78 now are chiefs of police, 2 are superintendents of police and 12 are assistant chiefs.

In Kansas City there is 6-foot-3 L. B. Reed, who has been referred to in inner circles as the best all-around FBI man the service ever had. In Tulsa is Police Chief Ralph Colvin, the man who stopped that notorious western gangster, Wilbur Underhill; and who was in the saddle as agent in charge in Oklahoma City when the "Machine-Gun" Kelly-Baily-Bates gang was rounded up.

Oklahoma City's chief is Frank Smith, a quiet, unassuming little man with gray hair—the FBI agent who knew more about southwestern bank robbers than any other officer alive. Working, almost single-handed, in the heart of the bank robbery country, he cleaned out the bandits to such an extent that in 1937, toward the end of his FBI reign, there wasn't a single bank robbery in his territory. Incidentally, if Oklahoma Citians want to know how close they came to being without Frank Smith, let them look up the story of the "Kansas City massacre." When gunmen opened up on the car that was transporting fugitive gangster Frank Nash back to prison, Smith was sitting in the center of the back seat but, miraculously, came out of that slaughter unscathed.

They're Representative

THESE represent the kind of men who are going over to cities as chiefs of police, carrying with them FBI methods. NPA graduates who have not worked for the FBI had the cream of knowledge the FBI has assembled.

Here is another sidelight. The District of Columbia police force, because of an unprecedented epidemic of unsolved crimes, is under congressional investigation. Almost at the outset, it was disclosed that only one man in the Washington police force ever had been through the FBI's national police academy and that there is no former FBI man on the local force.

Perhaps it is pertinent to this story that Capt. Harvey G. Callahan, the only Washington policeman who ever did swallow the FBI's concentrated capsule of law enforcement, may be the next chief of police of the nation's capital.

But Not Happy

the evening of that eventful Saturday in Henry Pell's life la Brown Pell boarded a train h passed through her home on its way to Florida. And sped on southward, she sat ng out of the window at the ery, and yet not seeing it. A t ache lay in her heart—an that was dull and like a y weight.

e had been so sure of getting word from Henry, but not a l had come. His silence meant . Of this she was convinced. hould have been back in New on Friday, she thought. e had drawn from the bank ive hundred dollars her aunt willed to her along with the ge. It had been in the bank ome time, drawing interest— e had left it there in case ing happened which would sitate extra funds.

ell, something had happened hough she certainly had r thought she would ever be the money as an aid in rid- herself of her husband.

e remembered a conversation nd Henry had once had about ive hundred.

's as much yours, darling, as mine," she had said.

Henry had grinned, and said: "Listen, honey, I didn't marry you for your fortune."

"Then you consider my face my fortune, sir?"

"Yes, Ma'am!" Henry had kissed her then. "I'm marrying you because you're my woman, I'm your man, and because I love you like nobody's business."

How long, long ago that seemed. Ages and ages.

She picked up a paper she had bought on the way to the train. Her eyes fell upon a section headed "Public Notices." She glanced down the items in a disinterested sort of way. Then she saw an item that caught her attention. It said:

"Please take notice that my wife, Katie, having left my bed and board, I am no longer responsible for her debts.

John Moorehouse."

She read the notice over again, wondering how soon it would be before Henry Pell put one like it in the New York papers, substituting the name Luella for the name Katie. Her eyes filled with tears. She flung the paper aside.

Almost angrily she snatched a pad and pencil from her bag. She began to write.

"Dear Henry:—

"I'll be at the Florida address given below, in case you find it necessary to communicate with me. I would like to have you keep my furniture until I can arrange to have it shipped back home.

"Luella."

She wrote the address of Tommy McIntyre's cottage at the bottom of the sheet, folded it, and placed it in an envelope. She then called the porter, and asked him to mail it for her at the first stop.

The Doghouse

IT was nearly ten o'clock that night before Henry finally got in touch with Marie. He had spent the afternoon in the lonely apartment—which continued to seem like a place wherein someone had recently died.

There he had occupied himself trying to compose some sort of telegram or letter to Luella, and trying to get Marie on the telephone. Marie was out each time he called, and each time he felt a mixture of relief and disappointment. He dreaded facing her, and yet, he wanted to do so and have done with it.

The last attempt to get hold of her brought the information that Miss Mason would be at the studio at nine o'clock that evening for a rehearsal. "I think you may be able to catch her afterwards," the maid added. Henry thanked her, and then returned to his efforts to write something to Luella. He filled the waste-paper basket with half-finished notes, telegrams, and letters, and then he gave up.

He had slumped down into a chair, frowning. After all, he argued with himself, it was really Luella's place to write to him. She was the one who had done the walking-out, not he. Besides, how did he know but what she had already left the home town for Florida? Hadn't Tommy McIntyre said that she was going to Florida after a few days at home? Of course he had.

Well, let Luella do the writing—let her write him when she was settled. She had rushed off and left him without waiting for him to get back from Chicago, without giving him a chance to tell her that he and Marie were perfectly innocent of any wrong whatsoever. So—

And now he was waiting in a small room outside the studio, waiting for Marie to join him.

The door opened, and she came in, quickly, an expression upon her face which Henry felt boded no good.

"I've tried all afternoon to get you," Henry said, rising to meet her. "But you were out, and—"

"Of course I was out," Marie cut in. "I keep after what I want. I don't sit down and let someone else get my jobs. I—"

"Then I take it you've heard the news," said Henry.

"I certainly have. Alma Latham was at the rehearsal, and she nearly knocked over the mike in her rush to tell me."

Henry shrugged. "Well, there's no need crying about it, is there?" he said somewhat dully. "I couldn't get back to New York a moment sooner."

"I think you could have if you'd really tried," said Marie. "But this is no place to talk. Take me home, and we'll talk there. I'm tired, and I'm completely disgusted."

"With me?"

"Perhaps."

"In the doghouse for a fact," Henry said, with an effort at humor.

"Come on," Marie said. "Let's get out of here."

Into the elevator, down to the street, into a taxicab, and up to the hotel where Marie lived. Into another elevator, up and up—and then the quietness of Marie's sitting-room.

"Sit down," she said. "Cigarettes there in that ebony box, as though you didn't know." She walked to the bedroom door. "I'm going to get into some lounging pajamas, and try to relax." She watched Henry moving restlessly about the room. "Do stop pacing, Henry. Mix yourself a drink, if you like."

Around New York

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Only 13 plays left on Broadway, and 10 of these are musicals or comedies. . . . The oldest is "Hellzapoppin," in its 4th year, and the next oldest is "Life With Father." . .

One of these 13 is "It Happens On Ice" and in it is the interesting person of Hedi Stenuf, billed by her press agent as "The Nordic Beauty." . . She is all of that. . . . She is both Nordic, and beautiful. . . . Miss Stenuf is one of the remarkable women's skaters in this or any country. . . .

Of the three plays that touch a serious theme, "Watch On the Rhine" is the only drama that concerns itself with the Nazis. . . . Paul Lukas continues to be the surprise hit. . . . Surprise, that is, to a few film agents who permitted him to get away from films. . . . He can write his own figure now. . . . In his dressing room it is a commonplace to count half a dozen pals from the coast. . . . They come in on every train, and Paul's dressing room has become their favorite hangout.

THE most delightful evening in the theater continues to be "Claudia," that strange, fresh, infectious comedy of young marriage. . . . "Pal Joey" is bitter and cynical and fascinating. . . . I am unable to understand the continued, full-scale success that follows "Panama Hattie." . . It is fun, sure—bawdy, gaudy, and naughty, but you would think those things would wear out. . . . Perhaps success is due to Ethel Merman, whom many consider really a great entertainer.

A play that never has received the noise it merits has been "Separate Rooms," but here it continues into its second year, and it gives this town another example of the value of word of mouth advertising. . . . It came in on a shoestring. . . . It received faint praise. . . . But it was funny. . . . That is, it was what people want when they go to the theater. . . . It gave them the chance to sit back and relax and forget their troubles. . . . And it gave them a laugh. . . . This comedy has Lyle Talbot, Alan Dinehart and Glenda Farrell. . . . After the first night's reviews they thought they would be lucky to get more than the usual two weeks. . . . But here it is into the second year, and it proves again that, on Broadway at least, you never know.

"ARSENIC AND OLD LACE" is the wild screwball play of season. . . . "My Sister Eileen" is good, hearty fun in a Greenwich basement. . . . I am unable to define "The Beautiful People." . . I saw it. . . . I read all the reviews. . . . I heard William Saroyan, who wrote it, tell all about it. . . . But I cannot explain nor account for it. . . . You will know all about "The Corn Is Green," with Miss Ethel Barrymore, which has been running a long time, not in bursts of popularity, but with steady box-office trade.

These are the only shows on Broadway as the summer goes into its hottest month. The newcomers won't begin to appear much before October.

Local Newlyweds to Fly to Cheyenne to Make Their Home

Garden flowers were used in pretty decoration of the First Pilgrim church for the Saturday morning wedding of Miss Margaret Hagan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hagan, 101 Cayuga avenue, and Charles Dinsmoor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Dinsmoor, 105 North South street.

Rev. L. W. Drury, pastor, read the ceremony at ten o'clock, after which a reception was held at the Hagan home and the newlyweds left for Cleveland, O., where they would take a plane to Cheyenne, Wyo., where they will make their home. The bride wore a beige frock and matching accessories for her traveling ensemble.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Edward Miller played "Beautiful Dreamer," "Until" and "O Promise Me" by DeKoven; also the traditional Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white chiffon with lace trim and a fingertip veil of imported French net. White roses and baby's breath formed her headband and arm bouquet.

Miss Betty Braunschweiger, as maid of honor, wore powder blue organdy with lace trimming and a pink net hat. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of pink roses and baby's breath. The bride's sister, Miss Phyllis Hagan, as flower girl, wore powder blue taffeta and carried yellow daisies.

The bride's brother, Charles Hagan, was Mr. Dinsmoor's best man and Gail Geer, cousin of the bridegroom, was usher.

The wedding luncheon was served at the Hagan home at noon for twelve guests, with a color scheme of pink and white centering about a three-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bridal couple. Mrs. Hagan wore green sheer with white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses and Mrs. Dinsmoor wore blue sheer, white accessories and a pink rose corsage.

Out of town wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Rapp, of Sackett; Mr. and Mrs. George Rapp, Lander; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rapp and daughter, Anna, Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Nelson, Rogers Mills; Mrs. Eleanor Hallabaugh, Tidioute; Mrs. Raymond Nelson, Pittsfield.

Both young people are Warren High School graduates. The bride, member of the Class of 1940, has been employed by the G. C. Murphy Company; Mr. Dinsmoor, Class of 1939, was also graduated by the Lincoln School of Aeronautics in Lincoln, Neb., and is employed by United Airlines at Cheyenne.

Parties for the bride-elect have been given by Miss Betty Braunschweiger and Miss Kathleen Simmons; Mrs. Gertrude Johnson; Mr. and Mrs. Rapp.

On Saturday morning at eleven o'clock in St. Joseph's rectory, Father Edward Jacobs united in marriage Miss Armis Hahm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christie Hahm, of Buffalo, N. Y., and John J. Casses, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Casses, 313 United avenue, this city.

The only attendants were Mrs. Tod Barlet and Norbert Casses, sister and brother of the bridegroom.

The bride was attractive in a satin brocade gown, with fingertip veil of tulle held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a white prayer book.

Mrs. Barlet wore a floor-length gown of yellow chiffon and a wreath of matching flowers in her hair. Her corsage was of pink roses and blue bachelor buttons.

Immediately following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bridegroom's parents to members of the immediate families. Later, the couple left for a short wedding trip, the bride choosing for her going-away ensemble a yellow tailored frock and brown accessories, with which she wore a gardenia corsage.

Shower parties have been given in her honor by Miss Dorothy Miller and Mrs. John Casses, Sr., and Miss Kay Farrell is to be hostess on Thursday evening for a shower in honor of the bride.

he St. Louis Cardinals are on r way back west today to open ng home st[illegible] against the tern clubs, and there is a good nce they will take complete rge of the National League e before they are again routed of Sportsman's Park.

hey left that impression as they mpleted a smashing tour of the board with a double defeat of Boston Braves yesterday by res of 4 to 2 and 7 to 3. That ds it seven victories in their t nine games, indicating that y Southworth's boys finally e rolling.

he Cards are playing breathing, hell-for-leather baseball, ing all sorts of chances and ning wild on the paths. Rival os are talking more about that n they are about the team's hitg. In this nine-game stretch, dentally, the Cards made only home run, and that was by s Slaughter in yesterday's sec- contest.

Brooklyn, by doing no better n breaking even against Pittsgh yesterday, saw its lead slicto a game and a half, with a g trip ahead. The Dodgers e played only .500 ball in their t 10 contests at home, and their ching staff is showing alarming ns of falling apart.

Whit Wyatt, the team's ace, lost third straight when the Pirates t him, 5 to 1, in the nightcap. d Fitzsimmons, reliable veteran, s struck on the arm by a batted l and forced to retire early in first tilt, which Curt Davis nt on to win, 5 to 1. Kirby gbe, another of the Dodgers' ig Three," is in a hospital with bad appendix and will not acmpany the club west.

The Cincinnati Reds, who en't yet lost hope of winning ir third straight flag, climbed hin two percentage points of rd place by thumping the Phil- twice, 7 to 1 and 3 and 2. Paul ringer broke a five-game los- streak in the first, in which he 12 Phils stranded.

The New York Giants won the t from Chicago, 7 to 5. Carl bbell scoring his ninth victory, the Cubs came back to take second, 7 to 4, behind Verne en.

n the most spectacular game of eavy day, the Yankees exploded six runs in the 17th inning to a 12 to 6 decision over Detroit Briggs Stadium. Deadlocked at the end of nine frames, they tled four hours and five mins before the blow-off.

ncluded in the Yankees' win- g assault on Al Benton and nny Gorsica were home runs by arley Keller and Tom Henrich l doubles by Johnny Sturm, Red lfe and Joe DiMaggio. DiMagpreviously had clouted a home and a pair of doubles.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, July 21—If the Cardinals win the National League pennant, Branch Rickey will insist that one of the world's series games be played at night . . . A flip of the coin says Ray Robinson will beat Sammy Angott tonight in Philly . . . It'll be Eddie Arcaro aboard Whirlaway in the $50,000 classic at Chicago next Saturday (if the jockey club stewards don't set him down) . . . Here's a second to the motion of George Manoukian of Hamden, Conn., that William Gargan play the title role in "The Life of Lou Gehrig" . . . No confirmation yet to reports that Doc Prothro will leave the Phillies at the end of the season—if not earlier—to become president of the Memphis Club . . . Big leaguers who have batted against Satchel Paige, the negro star, in exhibition games say he is faster than Bob Feller . . . Chicago promises the biggest gate of the season if it gets the Louis-Nova fight.

Going Up

If steers of Oregon
Jumps much higher,
They'll commission him
An Army flier.
—Stan Anderson.

The Week's Wash

Bill Tilden, who is picking up a few kopecks giving lessons at a New York club, is booked solid for a month . . . Mike Jacobs will stage the Jimmy Webb-Gus Lesnevich light-heavy title bout in Newark as a favor to Abe Green, the Jersey boxing commissioner . . . Greasy Neale, the Philadelphia Eagle coach, lives and sleeps football. The other night he dreamed he caught a punt and ran 105 yards for a touchdown against the Chicago Bears . . . First World's Series offer received by the Yanks came from a fan who wanted two behind the Yankee dugout . . . Al Smith and Jim Bagby (they stopped DiMaggio) were the New York World-Telegram's "Co-Stars of the week" . . . Lynn Waldorf the Northwestern football coach, has bought a home out there . . . The Long Island Indians are negotiating to become a farm for the Green Bay Packers this fall.

Today's Guest Star

Herbert Allan, New York Post: "Bobby Riggs, who plays tennis almost 12 months out of the year for fun and food, but is disengaged at the moment, dropped in for a look at the New York State tournament yesterday . . . He looked rather peaked, probably because he isn't eating this week."

Hollywood Happenings

Forest Evashevski says he is taking twice as much punishment blasting a path for Tom Harmon in the latter's pictures as he did in three years at Michigan. One play was run 19 times before the director was satisfied. And the posse which tackled Evashevski included two Washington Redskin linemen and four Southern California stars . . . Eddie Simms, the old heavyweight, forgot the script and knocked leading-man Robert Sterling cold in the knockout scene of "Ringside Maisie" . . . Sammy Baugh, completing "King of the Texas Rangers," will pay a flying visit to Sweetwater, Tex., before reporting to the Washington Redskins at San Diego . . . And John Kimbrough is considering bids from three studios for a picture to be made before he reports late next month to the New York football Yankees.

Ouch!

Why-Bring-That-Up-Dept.: Cy Slapnicka, general manager of the Indians, gets a headache whenever he is reminded of the time he said, "I wouldn't trade Roy Weatherly for two Joe DiMaggios."

Advertising Dept.

Don Buadge and Sidney Wood, the well-known laundrymen, proudly announce that Mrs. John Jacob Astor has been added to their list of customers.

Golfers in this district who would like to play in the state publinx tourney this year will trek to Hershey for play which starts Friday of this week and will be complete on Saturday. A field of over one hundred and fifty amateur linksmen are expected to enter the seventh annual classic of the Keystone state. Since 1936, second year of the tourney, all entries have been Pennsylvania golfers, though as we understand it, it is not necessary to reside in this state to play in the tournament. Most of the champions have come from the areas of Pittsburgh or Philadelphia over the six-year history. Sam Musico won the most colorful of all the annual affairs thus far, when last year the regular play ended in a three-way tie between Musico, of South Park Golf Club, Pittsburgh, and Wilmer Faber, Reading, and Vash Hromyak, Sharon. In the playoff Musico hit 74, Hromyak 76, and Faber 80 over a par 71 course. This year is expected to find the largest number of entries in the history of the championship tourney, with four Pittsburgh clubs entering golfers, and the same number from Philadelphia, plus a number from various other points throughout the state.

Quickies . . . Ludlow and Eagles meet again Thursday night at Ludlow . . . Local club will be out to avenge last week's 3-0 setback . . . Why not try and see tonight's City League softball game between the K. of C. and Recreation Club? . . . Promises to be a hot contest . . . This corner is looking for Ray (Sugar) Robinson to meet his first ring defeat tonight in his scrap with Sammy Angott, N. B. A. lightweight champion . . . The New York flash is good, but Angott is more experienced than the fighters Ray has tangled with thus far . . . Old Timers have another week to think about what they're going to do to Jamestown's vets of former years on the diamond . . . Just a little too much rain last Saturday night . . . Ditto in regard to the Bradford fight card . . . Galento will have to come another day . . . But to the promoters up that way, we think you had a swell card lined up, and another trial might bring a smile from Old Sol instead of a shower from Pluvius.

Ruffing and Ready

"Elmo" Wolfe doesn't go into the Army air corps until August 28, but yesterday was his last appearance in this section on a ball diamond before he is greeted by Uncle Sam and taught to fly, starting next month. So it's time for this corner to join the hosts of baseball, basketball and football fans in bidding a farewell to the current Forge outfielder, and to pay a sincere tribute. "Elmo" started his sports career in this city with the Warren High School basketball and football teams. He won two grid letters and three in basketball, playing with the Dragons. At Edinboro Teachers he was awarded four more letters, two each in basketball and football and then Wolfe came back to Warren, where in the summer time he played baseball with local and sectional sandlot teams which included the Moose, Warren Indies, and the Forge. Burdette J. also had his fling at organized ball, which he tried for a couple of years. He was a member of one of Warren's most notable families in the sports world, and did the community justice in giving fans everything he had to offer in every sport in which he participated. The name of "Elmo" Wolfe will always stand out in the records of sports in this section. Good luck to you, Burdette, and now we say so long to a fine athlete and a swell friend.

STATE HOSPITAL WHIPS GOWANDA BY 4-1 MARGIN

The State Hospital made this season a definite success on the baseball diamond Saturday when they won their biggest fracas of the campaign, the annual setto with Gowanda, N. Y., State Hospital, by a score of 4 to 2.

Jim Rose was the star, if any individual could be called the single hero, as he dropped the invaders with only six hits and had those scattered so as to be ineffective.

The light but steady hitting of the North Warren crew brought three runs in the seventh inning after the game had been deadlocked in the third by Gowanda. Four singles in the seventh scored Murphy, Rose, and Harold Brown.

Gowanda came back with another count in the eighth on a wild pitch by Rose, but Jim held them down to that lone marker through the rest of the game.

There were only two extra base hits over the entire nine innings. Borowski tripled in the eighth for Gowanda, being the player to score on Rose's wild toss, and Chuck Clawson belted a double for the winners in the second inning.

MARCONIS WIN THIRD STRAIGHT IN INTERSTATE

Jack Kifer scattered nine hits well enough yesterday for Warren to win its third straight start in the Interstate League at Russell by a score of 15 to 4.

Harold Brown and Chuch Clawson, Warren's popular "Baseball Twins," volleyed back and forth for batting honors and when the smoke had cleared both had played a major role in piling up eighteen hits and fifteen runs for the Marconis.

Brown had two doubles, a triple and a home run in five times at bat to pace everyone in the contest. Clawson had two doubles. Jack Kifer had only one hit but that was a four base clout. Tony Notoro lent a helping hand to the cause with a three bagger and after that barrage what was left for Russell was nothing more than debris.

WEEK-END SPORTS REVIEW

By the Associated Press

Chicago—Ben Hogan, 10 under par for 72 holes, wins $1,200 first prize in Chicago Open with record 274 to finish in money for 51st straight time; fires two 69's on last day to shade U. S. Open Champion Craig Wood by two shots, with 1940 Winner Dick Metz third.

New York—Frankie Parker bowls over Jackie Kramer of California in semi-final and Ladislav Hecht, former Czech Davis Cup ace, in final to win New York State clay court tennis title; Kramer and Schroeder, U. S. champions, take doubles crown.

Los Angeles—Strongly-backed Mioland runs third as Edward S. Moore's Big Pebble, at $5.40 for $1, beats Paperboy to take down $62,475 in Hollywood Gold Cup; Winner's time for mile and a quarter is 2:02 3-5.

Spokane—Bill Welch, Houston (Tex.) long shot, defeats Jack Kerns, Denver, 6 and 5, in final round of National Public Links Golf Championship.

New York—Joseph E. Widener's Roman, 12½ to 1 shot, takes Fleetwing Handicap at Empire City by four lengths over T. M. Dorsett and Harvard Square as A. G. Vanderbilt's New World, the favorite, runs eighth in field of ten; Jockey Eddie Arcaro suspended, effective Tuesday, for rough riding in second race and case referred to jockey club stewards.

Minneapolis—Ted DuBois, Winnipeg, succeeds Joe Burk, retired, as National Senior Singles sculling champion as Undine Boat Club, Philadelphia, wins team title and Fairmount Rowing Club Philadelphia, takes eight-oared race.

FORGE BEATEN BY WELLSVILLE IN NIGHT GAME

After losing by a four run margin on Wilder Field yesterday afternoon, the National Forge baseballers journeyed to Wellsville for a night game and found themselves on the short end of the count once again, 10 to 6.

The Forgers took a one run lead in the first canto and held it until the third when the Sinclairs tied the game. In the fourth, the Sinclairs banged out enough hits for three more runs and repeated this feat in the sixth. Two in the seventh and one in the eighth put them well ahead.

Irvine didn't score again until the seventh when they pushed one more marker across. In the ninth the visitors scored four times but were the same number of runs behind when the final out was made.

Caffery and Massa were the battery for the Forge; Hienick and Susi teamed up for Wellsville.

The win gave the Sinclairs the edge this season with two wins in three games against the Morrison combine.

Yesterday's two losses changed the Forge records to eleven wins and four losses.

Next Sunday afternoon the Lindy Miles team of Endicott, N. Y., which was booked earlier this season but cancelled when its lineup wasn't at full strength, will play at Wilder Field in a doubleheader. The Endicotts have a strong club now, and promise the Forge two fine games.

Last night's score by innings:
Forge ... 100 000 104—6 10 2
Wellsville 011 303 21x—10 12 2
Batteries: Forge—Caffery and Massa; Sinclairs — Hienick and Susi.

Akron Killian Celts Whip Forge As Fans Honor "Elmo" Wolfe

The Akron Killian Celtics didn't go out of their way to make "Elmo" Wolfe Day at Irvine a big success yesterday, though it was, by beating the Forge 6 to 2, and limiting their hosts to only seven hits.

Wolfe received a present from his teammates, and then proceeded to thank them with a single in the eighth, after which he scored one of the Forgers' two tallies.

Akron's pitcher, Joyce, kept the game under his thumb nail over the entire route, and received fine support from the bats of his mates which overshadowed four Celt errors, the first baseman for the Celtics, and Coey, second baseman hit three baggers for the day's longest bingles and Joyce, himself, banged out a double.

Hank Wise, who did the tossing for the Irvine crew, couldn't get settled in the first inning and forced a run home on a hit and three straight walks.

Joyce's two base knock and a single by Coey brought two across in the second. Garcia tripled and scored on Vincent's long fly to Burns in left field for a fourth run in the third. And then Coey's triple brought in the final two runs in the seventh.

The Forge finally broke a threatening shutout in the eighth inning when Wolfe scored from third on a hit and run play with Morrison hitting to the pitcher and being thrown out at first, but "Elmo" being well enough ahead of the play to score.

Again in the ninth, when Rosequist led a parade of pinch-hitters, the Forge was able to score, but only once. Rosey belted a single into left field, went to second when Creola walked, and scored on a hit by Gagliardi, batting for Burns, with two men out. Wolfe then batted and forced Gagliardi at second. Coey to Wass, to make his final play on Wilder Field before joining Uncle Sam the twenty-eighth of this month in the air corps, and to end the game with the Forge on the short end of the count. It was their third loss of the year.

Increase in Fight Broadcasts Follows Mike Jacobs' Shift

Actually it's the listener who has benefitted by the shift of the Mike Jacobs fights from NBC to MBS, according to C. E. Butterfield, Associated Press radio editor. The fan is getting more ringside broadcasts than ever, he says.

Before the transfer, NBC was the only network that paid regular attention to professionals, with other chains picking up occasional amateur events or a rare big-timer. Now, two networks are much on the job.

For NBC, somewhat chagrined over losing the Jacobs bouts, decided it still was to have fights. It has gone to promoters in other centers and signed contracts.

As an indication of just how busy the fight microphone is becoming, the advance schedule for the next two weeks shows at least four matches. NBC-blue will have two this week, tonight's Ray Robinson vs. Sammy Angott at Philadelphia and tomorrow night's Red Burman vs. Melio Bettina at Brooklyn.

MBS comes forward next week with a pair. July 28 it offers Fritzie Zivic vs. Freddy Cochrane, and on the 30th it is to have Billy Soose vs. George Abrams at New York.

The buyer who picked out a car at the first automobile show paid six times as much per pound for his machine as today's buyer pays.

Capital Gossip

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — America is seeing America as it never has before. Tie the United States with the strings of a constantly tightening national emergency and the widespread fattening of pay envelopes, and you'll see why 1941 may be the greatest travel year on the books for some time to come.

There's no better pulse-taker of travel in the country than Thomas P. Henry, president of the Automobile Association of America. He gathers statistics from dozens of sources and this year he is able to toss them into the hopper and grind out the simple phrase: "Travel is booming."

Car registrations have exceeded late winter estimates. Gasoline consumption has soared to a new all-time peak. The national parks, Canada and Mexico are adding up seasonal records ahead of all previous years. And for further proof that America is on the go as never before, there is the record-breaking routings handled by the AAA and other motor clubs.

Let's take a few of the state and city auto club reports, just to give some idea: Michigan, 38 per cent increase over last year; Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Norfolk, Cleveland and the states of Missouri and Rhode Island, approximately 20 per cent increase; Louisville, up 38 per cent; the state of New York, 27 per cent; and California, 32 per cent.

Canadian Figures Jump

THE national park figures are slow coming in, but estimates for the first month or six weeks of the season indicate a 10 to 20 per cent visitor increase in all parks over last year's high figures.

D. Leo Dolan, chief of the Canadian Travel Bureau, reports that in one week, at eight Canadian entry points in New Brunswick, Quebec and Ontario, travel to Canada on 60-day permits (persons who stayed 48 hours or less and did not have to have extended permits were not counted) increased from two to two and a half times over 1940.

In recent months I have had a number of queries from readers asking if it is possible to go to Canada while she is at war. According to Mr. Dolan, more than 14,000,000 Americans went to Canada in 1940 for stays of longer than 48 hours and restrictions are no different now than they were then.

The same applies to Mexico. Because of some whimsy not yet made clear, travel to our nearest "good neighbor" to the south started off very slowly this year. For four months, it was no more than normal and a little under last year; but the next two months saw approximately a 30 per cent increase over last year's high figures. Since then, the flow across the Rio Grande and borders to the west is developing into a sizable flood.

Take Your Choice

SO THERE you have it. America is on wheels as it never was before. From Lake St. Jean to Acapulco, they are angling for ouananiche or red trout, or buying gardenias at a few cents an armload, or sending wish-you-were-here postcards to the folks back home.

The "good neighbor" boys in Washington have their own version of the travel to Canada and Mexico (and the rest of Latin America), but the travel experts here who take a broader view say it's just a simple case of restlessness and rising incomes.

The former always occurs in periods of great national tension. When money comes along at the same time, folks just have to get out and get going, whether it's to see the Gaspe, Popocatepetl, or to visit son John, who is earning his $21-per as trainee in Uncle Sam's own version of a blitzkrieg army.

Alex Smith, 47, and Horace McHenry, 44, of New Castle, were killed by a hit-run driver of a truck at New Castle. Charles D. Blessing, 74, of the Dauphin county home, was fatally injured by an automobile.

Many members of the British House of Parliament now are serving in the army.

Therefore, he said, it would be taking a grave national risk, unless congress were to make possible the maintenance of the present, full, effective strength of the army during the coming year and give training to as many additional Americans as possible.

He added that it would be a "tragic error" to eliminate about two-thirds of the trained soldiers and three-fourths of officer personnel.

The steps which the chief executive took to underscore the administration's desire for extended service during a period of world crisis was considered to some extent an acknowledgment of a strong opposition existent in congress. Compromises have been advanced.

But Mr. Roosevelt said he was not asking congress for specific language in a specific bill. He said that he hoped the legislators "will acknowledge this national emergency either for a specific period or until revocation by the congress or the president."

Other government changes saw Lord Hankey appointed paymaster general and 38-year-old Richard Austen Butler elevated from parliamentary undersecretary for foreign affairs to president of the board of education.

Butler replaces Herwald Ramsbotham, who was appointed chairman of the unemployment assistance board to succeed Lord Rushcliffe, now retired. Ramsbotham was made a baron.

Initial press comment on the changes which also included switches in several undersecretaryships, was characterized chiefly by criticism of Churchill's failure to head off-repeated demands for appointment of a minister of production.

Some well-informed sources, however, said Churchill was considering such an appointment and might announce creation of the ministry at the forthcoming parliamentary debate on production.

Most observers believed the choice in that event would lie between Lord Beaverbrook, now minister of supplies, and Ernest Bevin, minister of labor.

In general, the press reaction was that Cooper's assignment to the Orient was justified.

Political circles regarded the changes merely as a tightening of governmental machinery and a reflection of Churchill's desire to get younger men into responsible positions.

Bracken, for instance, before the war chairman of the financial news and editor of the Banker, is 40.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, July 21—(AP)—Wheat prices declined fractionally early today reflecting the Chicago storage situation and prospects that some excess grain may be released for market by fall.

Opening unchanged to ¼ higher, July 1.01 ½, September 1.03⅞-1.04, all wheat contracts later declined. Corn started unchanged to ⅛ off, September 75, December 77½.

to American safety is less than it was one year ago when, so far as the army is considered, the United States was in a woefully weak position. I do not believe that the danger to our national safety is only about the same as it was a year ago.

"I do believe—I know—that the danger today is infinitely greater. I do believe—I know—that in all truth we are in the midst of a national emergency."

RALLY SERVICE BEING PLANNED HERE TOMORROW

Two events of considerable interest have been scheduled for members of the Bethlehem Congregational church during this week, the young people having a rally service on Tuesday and the entire congregation joining in an outing on Wednesday.

The Young People's Society will take part in a Chautauqua Conference rally and echo service to be held in Wildcat Park at Ludlow at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening, when young people's groups of Mission Covenant churches of DuBois, Ridgway, Johnsonburg, Kane, Bradford and Sugar Grove will be present.

The early part of the evening will be spent with games and recreation, with a campfire service and roast following. Members and friends of the local group are urged to attend and are reminded to meet at the church at 6:45 o'clock.

Wednesday afternoon and evening, the Bethlehem Congregational Sunday school will hold its annual outing at Island Park at Youngsville.

Games and entertainment will be provided for the children in the afternoon and all members and friends are invited for the tureen supper to be served at six o'clock Coffee, cream and sugar will be provided by the school committee and those attending are asked to bring a tureen, rolls and table service.

A vesper service will follow.

Russell

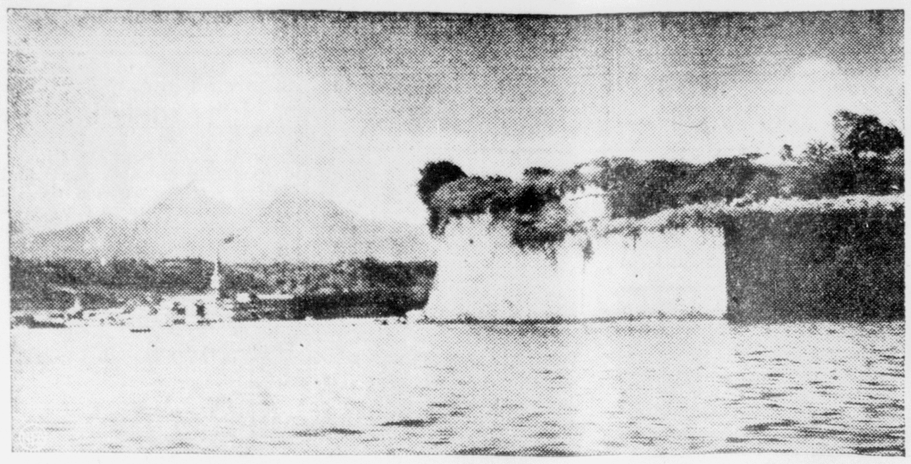

Russell, July 21—The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the local Methodist church will meet at the church Wednesday at 12:30 o'clock and transportation will be furnished for those going to the cottage of Mrs. Harold Hale for a picnic dinner. Those attending are asked to bring tureens only.

The 31st reunion of the T. J. Pratt Class was held Thursday at the home of Henry and Cora Wesner, with lunch served under the trees to 27 members and friends. Henry Wesner presided at the business meeting, when the following were elected: President, Miss Cora Morgan; vice president, Bert Hough; secretary-treasurer, Edna Lyon. Present from away were Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Harris, Avon Park, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Tambling, Brocton, N. Y.; Mrs. Mary Van Croix, Melbourne, Fla.

New Pictures From Martinique, French-Held Hot Spot In Caribbean

U. S. Built Planes Rust in Salt Air

Still a big theoretical wrench in the military machine the U. S. is building for hemisphere defense is the tiny French-owned island of Martinique. The Vichy government scoffs at possibility the Caribbean island could be used for German operations against the United States, but declares it will be defended wholeheartedly should the U. S. try occupation. These are new pictures just arrived from the island. Above, the shrubbery-shrouded walls of Fort Royal, which guards the outermost point of Fort-de-France, capital of the island. The town itself is seen in the left foreground. Right: The tri-color of France flies over American-built warplanes, bought by France before the German conquest and since immobilized on the island. Exposed to sun and salt air, they are rusting in disuse.

OBITUARY

MRS. SARAH E. DONAHEY

Funeral services in memory of Mrs. Sarah E. Donahey, of Tiona, were held on Sunday, with a prayer service at 12:30 o'clock at the Peterson Funeral Home. Rev. A. G.
